I will be off work for a few weeks soon and I am thinking of what to do to pass some time and I am thinking of a few movies to watch to pass some of the time. If anyone has any good ones let me know.

Try to watch "You Should Have Left" movie that stars Kevin Bacon and Amanda Seyfried.

That sounds nice, a good movie break is always needed. You could try some classics or new releases, depending on what you're into. What kind of movies do you usually like?

Shaun of the Dead is a great movie.

I love how it mixes comedy and horror.
