Thread: Weirdest side hustle youve ever tried or heard of

Side hustles are as varied as they are wonderful—some are genius, others are quirky, and others are just downright weird.. From selling strange products to providing bizarre services, humans become super creative when making money on the side. Some ideas make your head spin, while others surprisingly work.

I am always impressed by just how creative people can be when it comes to making extra money.

What was the strangest side hustle you've ever tried or heard of?

Oh yeah, definitely not a typical side hustle. I can see why you'd think it's the weirdest.?

Oh yeah, hahaha, I always hear Nach talk about selling feet pics on the convo, but I'm not sure it's actually true.

I wouldn't say weirdest. But as a young teenager. I tried selling Christmas cards.

That's actually pretty cool! Selling Christmas cards sounds like a fun little hustle. It's not weird at all ?

I second this. I'm bad talking to strangers. People do this pretending to be someone else and convince the other person to pay them?

I can't believe people fall for this.

Yeah, this online scam tactic where someone pretends to be a woman really sucks and it's wild how scammers can sound so convincing nowadays. Some people really know how to play with emotions.?

I mean i have made tens of thousands off it and you can make great money if you put the time in sex always sells. I say its weird since you pretend to be a girl and someone thats never done it before they would think its really weird

I still do it but differently now i have a real girl i work with

Too much to count tbh and too much to name just one. The world is weird.
