Thread: Have you played black ops 7 beta yet?

I have been playing it since early access and already reached level 30 hahaha its actually fun and reminds me of infinite warfare and bo6 put together. at the same time i dont know if its worth the money.... it feels almost like bo6 just with a bit of movement upgrades

I haven't. I haven't even watched gameplay for it yet. Is it really futuristic?

Its really not theres no jetpacks or any crazy movements you can jump on walls for a second but besides that the movement same as bo6. I was expecting something like jetpacks and wall running but its nothing like that like the map and weapons i would say is more futuristic? but its not to where its really noticeable.... I would recommend giving it a try and the zombies mode is fun too its harder than bo6 zombies

There's no power upgrades where you become invisible or any of that like they did in 3 or 4?

No not yet. But I am having a great time waiting aha. So many games are coming out this year/next year. I am so excited

Going to make sure I play this game when it is released.

I'm not a fan of these modern cod games but watching other people play I'm glad I have no interest. The fact there is a feature to where you can snipe people through walls is the most retarded thing I have seen. Thankfully Battlefield is out in a few days, a decent game which will hopefully be fully optimised.

As Sam above, never was a big fan of the Black Ops series as it got into the moer futuristic part. Is it really good?
