Me and two or more persons conspired to commit a federal offense. What makes it worse is you don't have to know all the elements of a conspiracy to be a part of one.

HALx86 - October 7, 2025, 8:04 am

Well shoot, best of luck. I hear its best to keep to yourself but I also hear you are forced to join your races gang. Hows your experience in that? Maybe it depends where you are at.

Yes. Everything is segregated from the moment you get off the bus. Whites and Mexicans sit on one side of the chow hall, blacks on the other. Gang members with gang members. Same goes for living situations. 90% of Mexican or white is on gang related time.

I mean it's definitely possible like I said before we had a user who was very active and an awesome dude that was also incarcerated so I really wouldn't be surprised if you're telling the truth. Be careful about sharing where you're locked up at, don't want you getting into trouble or anything.

Also do they give you tablets that you're using to get on here?

They gave me ten years for the conspiracy. And my life as a drug dealer is over. If I ever go back, it will be for something unrelated to drugs.

Absolutely .. but I have spent the last ten years in here so I have kinda grown up in here if you know what I mean .. so it's a bit different than being grown and coming in with two or three years. I came in at 20 and I'm 29 now.
