I personally just use chrome

Deany - October 8, 2025, 11:44 pm

FF and Chrome equally !

Bastille - October 9, 2025, 1:06 am

It depends on what I'm doing, FF for daily uses, Chromium for cybersecurity, brave for anonymity

aj33b9009 - October 9, 2025, 9:57 am

i use Firefox

RangoWorld - October 12, 2025, 5:25 am

Firefox is my daily driver on PC.

Chrome is my daily driver on mobile.

There's then Brave, Chrome and Tor that I use for various purposes.

I really love chrome, used to be a Firefox boy tho

TheAutist - February 20, 2026, 10:52 pm

I have Firefox, Librefox, Brave, Comet, Chrome, Dolphin Anty, and Linkensphere all installed and used for different purposes.

However, I almost never use Chrome. I've always equated Google with privacy rape. Can anyone explain (Like the guy who said he uses it for cybersecurity?) why they prefer chrome?

WishMe_Luck - February 21, 2026, 5:55 pm

I have always used chrome since it's release in 08, was shit back then but as time went on it improved, and never moved on from it. Every windows server, home PC, mobile devices etc first thing I get is chrome.

Depends on the site but usually Chrome, Edge or Brave.

SoulZeh - February 24, 2026, 9:52 pm

I've started using Helium, not 100% sure on how I feel about it, sick of chrome and even Brave.

John828 - February 27, 2026, 7:29 am

I use the brave browser mostly to stay private!

Exkabal - February 27, 2026, 11:30 am

Opera, and Perplexity Comet if im doing something that be automated with the help of AI

C00Lssh - February 28, 2026, 8:15 pm

Brave browser for privacy, Chrome for professional/dont care about tracking lol
