And do you still play?

My fav mmos were runescape and dcuo I really liked the style of both and gameplay

Now I dont play like I used to

World of Warcraft no doubt

Unfortunately nothing will ever top World Of Warcraft. Games were close to becoming just as good but it was never going to happen. The only other game I tried and enjoyed for a short while was Black Desert, the aggressive monetisation and pay-to-win elements just makes it incredibly bad imo.

Old School Runescape, I wished I got into that golden era of WoW back in 07-08.

I played a bit of Dota

Gotta be RuneScape.

WoW, RS, and similar games, although I don't play any of these anymore.

MMO/RPG games are scarily addicting if you have any sort of goal to play competitively.

WoW has got to be my first choice, but I've recently been playing some OSRS in my downtime in work and I'm actually really loving it. That game is awesome to just drop in and do some grinding for 30 minutes.

OSRS somehow is a game I've gone back to many times, some minecraft servers with friends have really been it for MMO's.

I play Runescape.
It is simple but addictive.
