What are you currently striving for?

Mine is pretty unrealistic, I wanna be an archaeologist and go on digs

I do have a major in anthropology, so maybe one day!

Man thatd be so cool. Archaeology always fascinates me but I am not sure I could handle the meticulous digging it takes.

I've always said if I became absurdly rich I would personally fund extensive research into the Amazon and Turkey. Awesome stuff.

My dream job is running my own business. I am building it now. It takes time and seems hopeless at moments, but if it works, Ill feel a bit more free.

Money aside, a Cactus farmer :-D

Archaeology would be cool. I remember I wanted to do that and major in anthropology thinking I would be like Lara Croft or Indiana Jones but I talked to some people in the field and they said its nothing like that sadly lol.

My dream job would be to have my own business of some kind and I can make my own hours and my own decisions.
