Thread: Any League of Legends players?

Since Nintendo 64 got kicked off the website. I don't know anyone else who is obsessed with League. I haven't played as much in the last six months. Between work, and the time I am off playing CS2. I haven't had much time for all three combined.

Do you play, and if you do.. Do you play ranked? What was your peak? Mine was Emerald.

I didn't play it really, but tried it. My brother was into LoL & Smite for a long time.

We've had our TV's default channel (when not using smart tv apps) set to a random e-sports company. I've watched a few League competition snippets now and it's intriguing. I don't know if I'll ever play but I can see the appeal. I didn't in the past because i preferred PvE MMORPG. I played Overwatch years ago, TF2 even longer ago. I could kind of see how the strategies of league may be similar to certain maps & game types from other franchises.

I played LoL a bit here and there.
Mostly to mess around with friends.

I played Smite before I played LoL, but ultimately ended up playing League for well over 12 years now.

Mostly to mess around with friends. It's a fun game, but very toxic. Any game with ranked competitive team play can be very toxic.

Damn bro, you're pretty damn good then.

I think I got gold 5 once. But I'm a low silver consistently.

The last season I took seriously I peaked Emerald, but over the years I just got progressively better. If I would adapt to my opponents play style better than I would be higher, but I was always an OTP champ player.

I played a lot of Xin Zhao jungle, Yi jungle, Nasus top/mid, Lux mid/support, Karma support
