one of my roommates in college kept bread in the fridge. I never met anyone or knew anyone that did that. Not gonna lie, it kind of bothered me.

I might have put some blow in my freezer (not fridge) because it was too moist and clumpy and it was hard to break up into lines ?

I bought some helluva good dip that was jalapeno cheddar flavored and it has a really weird consistency and flavor. Not a fan of it. Don't want to throw it away though.

I have a closed marmalade in the fridge for almost a year, I'm not sure about it's condition.

Expiration date is in 2026 - I don't event want to know what preservatives it has
