What is your favorite holiday event in video games?

for me i like when GTA online does the christmas and halloween events. I also like when osrs and warzone does christmas/halloween events

I find myself playing a lot more when limited events are in games. fun to get the rewards and its something different

Halloween events definitely. Looking forward to playing The Haunting on COD. I just googled and saw it started on the 9th.

I really need to play it. I just haven't had time. The killers in the trailer like Jason, Predator, Chucky, do you face them?

I've been dabbling with it. They are purchasable characters you can play as. It's been pretty fun, the casual game mode has zombies instead of the bots. I've enjoyed it so far.

As far as I have seen, no. Unless I'm completely missing something.

Yeah they released a mode called slasher deathmatch and has Jason as the slasher its basically like prop hunt but without the props.... 2 random people are chosen to be Jason and you have to hide to avoid them

Escape From Tarkov had some really nice holiday events.

Way back in the day on Runescape as well.

Call of Duty's Halloween event is my favorite.

The spooky vibes are perfect for gaming.
