So basically, the name of every website with a shell is visible to anyone interested in buying?
That's not very smart.

Yeah, the man whoever is interested in buying webshell can see the domains.

I think business is the same. You put something out there for sale, but ultimately, one person ends up buying it. That's transparent and fair. If you sell it secretly, no one will know you sold it to multiple buyers.

So it means it is my business place.

For sure - You misunderestood why it's not very smart.
But I won't judge you, it was more a friendly advice.

Be cautious comparing this to a typical business, it's quite different from that.
Good luck ?

Honestly it depends if you can actually get a shell too on that site. If you can't then u cant lol.

I am sure kids would run exploit cve scanners and backdoor checkers on it as a surface test. Since its web shells.

Yes of course it depends, I'm sure 400 no-ones who just lurk here, already tried

But there is also the chance, that someone feels ouch in their behind and decide to reach out to all the websites.

Overall sharing the websites to anyone who might be interested in purchasing, just seems like a bad idea in so many ways, lol

I'm even surprised to see web shells, so nostalgic, c99 vibe

This sort of business is still running, yea old school but they are many ways to get it now than just the old ways.

Maybe not popular on forums.

But in telegram its all over it but usually third world countries.

Cause $3-$5 is like 50 bucks. Getting $50 in bulk deals is paying for hooker and ice already for them.

Interesting - haven't touched a web shell for years, neither have I talked to anyone still in that market. But it is funny to think about

Then again, haven't been part of communities or forums for nearly a decade (literally)

Your point makes sense

Thank you for the whole replies. As you guys mentioned, sharing the website which is vulnerable using scanners or any other things, but I am sure the websites which I shared is not vulnerable, and I get those using the other methods, which I know at least. So I think it is safe for me to share the domains. And that's why I made decision to sell those to the customers. Please join our channel if you are interested in.

Many customers will know that if you join our channel, anyway, the domains are almost fresh domains. And the other hackers can't get using vulnerabilities with only domain names..

gutu - October 16, 2025, 12:19 pm

Thank you for many customers. Many customers come in and bought our domains. Please join our bot and enjoy it.

Thanks.
