

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: The Day the CEO of Meta Stopped to Like My Vision

Stanley - October 13, 2025, 9:20 am

The Day the CEO of Meta Stopped to Like My Vision

Mark Zuckerberg's name appeared on a notification on the Meta smart glasses. The notification was sent by the founder of the social network Recomendeme. The post was written to show the power of sharing what you think.

<https://hackernoon.com/the-day-the-ceo-of-meta-stopped-to-like-my-vision?source=rss>

Oh_Well - October 13, 2025, 9:53 am

They used to care about connection, now they care about engagement.

Charlie Sheen - October 13, 2025, 11:09 am

If they are anything near the size of the goggles in the main picture, I'll pass. I know some people that have the meta glasses and they like them but I'm going to wait until something truly advanced and not so heavy comes out.

Vectura - October 13, 2025, 12:24 pm

That's actually a pretty wild moment, getting a like from Zuckerberg himself must've felt surreal. But beyond the hype, the story really highlights how visibility and timing still matter so much in the digital world. A single post, when shared with authenticity and purpose, can ripple far beyond what you'd expect. It's a cool reminder that sometimes, just putting your vision out there can open unexpected doors.

Aeowulf - October 13, 2025, 4:09 pm

(Oct 13, 2025 09:53 AM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They used to care about connection, now they care about engagement.

Engagement, exclusively to make more money!

Oh_Well - October 14, 2025, 12:45 am

(Oct 13, 2025 04:09 PM)Aeowulf Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Engagement, exclusively to make more money! Exactly!

JoshAllen - October 14, 2025, 7:26 am

Crazy how one "like" can totally make your day and keep you going.

Nice to know Mark is at least listening.

Hackers - October 16, 2025, 5:57 am

(Oct 13, 2025 09:53 AM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They used to care about connection, now they care about engagement.

He even came out and said that Meta/Facebook isn't about personal connections anymore, its' about having a voice.

They're definitely moving closer and closer to the reel model - short attention spans, constant bombardment, and encouraging people to create the same type of content.

They noticed trends of people using the platform to announce things, more than they use it to talk to old friends or fam

DAL-SHA - October 16, 2025, 8:35 am

Zuckerberg has a never ending flame , always gave me this push to learn more .. him and elon musk , that dude is a beast !

leste - October 30, 2025, 5:02 pm

Zuckerberg getting that notification on Meta glasses is wild.