Thread: All living hostages released by Hamas

RangoWorld - October 13, 2025, 9:28 am

I think this is a big development. Potentially marking an end to the scale of this war.

What we know:

TRUMP TO EGYPT: President Donald Trump has arrived in Egypt after a lengthy and triumphal address to Israel's parliament, the Knesset.

HOSTAGES TRANSFERRED: All 20 of the surviving hostages in Gaza have now been released.

TO BE RELEASED: While the remains of other hostages were also expected to be transferred, the group representing families of abductees announced that "only four bodies" out of 28 held by Hamas would be heading back today.

PALESTINIAN PRISONERS: Hamas had pledged to release the hostages by today in exchange for 250 prisoners serving life sentences and more than 1,700 Palestinians detained after the group's Oct. 7, 2023, terrorist attack on Israel.

WORLD LEADERS GATHER: Aside from Trump, Egyptian President Abdel Fattah el-Sissi, British Prime Minister Keir Starmer, German Chancellor Friedrich Merz and Canadian Prime Minister Mark Carney are among 20 heads of state attending today's summit in Egypt.

SCALE OF WAR: More than 67,000 people have been killed in Israel's offensive on Gaza, according to the Gaza Health Ministry. Large swaths of the enclave have been destroyed, and famine has been declared in part of northern Gaza. Around 1,200 people were killed and about 250 were taken hostage in the Oct. 7 attack on Israel.

Personally, while this is great news, I find the celebration to be premature. There are still more Jews to kill.

It is a great thing, lets hope this ceasefire remains and Palestinians can rebuild.

I hope the families of the released hostages/prisoners on both sides can begin to heal and get the help they need for their traumatic experiences.

I do however already see some prominent people in the US already making false accusations, one of them being that they didn't release female hostages and that they killed them all, that is a lie most female hostages were released in prior ceasefire and hostage exchange agreements, seems some people just want this war to continue.

Imagine being mad that the Donald Trump the President of the USA brokered a peace deal that resulted in a ceasefire and the release of hostages and the end of the bloodshed and genocide occurring in Gaza by the IDF.

While I have time and time again spoke out against the horrible actions Israel has done lets not forget it was Hamas who caused this on Oct 7th, and it is currently Hamas who is causing bloodshed in Gaza right now as I write this against Palestinians.

So do us all a favor, never visit the USA we don't want you here, and as for Israel I am certain the Jews also agree they don't want you there with your mindset.

Meanwhile you felt the need to come on to an American owned and operated platform of which the owner while me and him disagree firmly on some things I consider him to be a fairly patriotic person and your first post is to spread hate.

For someone who hates the USA so much why use our platforms?.

This is great, but I heard that Hamas doesn't want to leave power.

The war will end when Hamas is dead or gone.

I don't know why Hamas thinks they are going to live...
