It's past <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6272480> - So let's show some love for the folks that HF the most on Monday's, when less people are around (at least it feels like to me).

How is everyone today? How was your weekend? How was your Monday?

How is everyone today? Good, I feel more retarded than usual, been spending three days trying to get an endpoint set up but can seem to find my config problem

How was your weekend? Same as above

How was your Monday? Got out of work and now same as above

How was your weekend

Every question answered. Love it! ?

Well, I hope you get your config issue worked out.

Mine was relatively uneventful. Went to a scouting camp, and stayed in an AirBnb because I don't like camping with a bunch of kids. ?

I'm doing good. I had a good weekend. It was a good day. Now I'm just fighting with ChatGPT to try to write some code that is admittedly a little out of my league. It's all good in the end though. I always come out on top. I also plan on uploading some code to GitHub and posting it on these forums now that I am to 50 posts.

Wednesday I'm leaving it and going home where I will spend the remaining week working out, eating clean and studying for my driving lessons theory exam. Have a great week !

Mondays really do set the tone for the week - some people are coding away while others are just trying to survive 90-hour work weeks! It's interesting how everyone's Monday experience is so different, from fighting with AI to just enjoying a day off. Hope those Bills recover quickly Yin Yang, that's a tough loss for fans.
