It's always in October engrained in my brain

Oh_Well - October 15, 2025, 4:52 am

Hey! I spent my last 2 hours debugging some shit, I need a break xD

How is your day going?

Eran - October 15, 2025, 9:30 am

I've been sleeping very little for the past 2 days and today as a result of that my anxiety is almost non existent. So instead of napping I'm just enjoying it tbh.

DAL-SHA - October 15, 2025, 2:00 pm

i've been eating a lot , not sleeping well , and training in the gym expecially cardio ! im doing fine

Yeah... I don't miss that life. I installed 6 windows today. There's always problems, but with houses, you can usually beat the shit out of something to get it to fit. ? Doesn't work too well with code.

That feels... backwards, but that's awesome if that works for you!

Get that grind on! Make sure you're eating HEALTHY foods to help the gains and not wreck progress.

Idk man, yesterday felt weird for real. I slept over 10 hours today to make up for it, and for some reason.. I don't feel as anxious as I did before the sleep deprivation days? But it's just the beginning of the day so won't get too ahead of myself.

?? Birmingham's got a great food scene. Huntsville tech scene is legit. Mobile has the beach and Mardi Gras. College football takes over the state in the fall. Mountains in the northeast, beaches and plains in the south, there's something for everyone.

Where does it fall on the moral compass that I am doing some light hacking of local news websites to remove paywalls?

It's not actually hacking, they give you the HTML content, they just apply CSS hidden, I'm making a Flask app that will proxy the website back to me using BS4 to remove troublesome tags.

I thought it was Lawful Evil, but apparently not?
