Thread: Crypto Calls - November 1 - Share your predictions

Hackers - October 15, 2025, 12:15 pm

What will BTC and ETH be on Nov 1, 2025?

I want to see some predictions from people here, and lets re-eval on Nov 2+
Whoever comes the closest on both (by average % between the two) will receive $10 in crypto from me come November.

To qualify at all, the winner must be within $1K on BTC or within $200 on ETH prediction, either or.
If I win, I will award the 2nd closest user that qualifies.

My predictions...

BTC: $112,500

ETH: $4,150

My prediction accounts for staying around current ranges, with ETH showing slightly more strength than BTC.

Disclaimer:

-> my actual range for BTC is 70-90K and up to 120-140K. I am picking 112,500 as a conservative prediction, as I do not usually make short-term bets and my ranges are not for the next 2 weeks like this thread is for. I have BTC at 380-430K as the top of the next big cycle.

> I don't have a current TA range officially on ETH as I haven't really done ETH TA in over a year. However, I am basing the prediction on current charts for short-term, along with some positive indicators.

Unless the majority wants otherwise, I'll use TV Coinbase for normalized pricing (BTCUSD, ETHUSD)

<https://www.tradingview.com/chart/>

I'll use end of day in UTC to mark the close unless people here have an issue with that.

BTC will be at $125k

ETH will be at $4.7k

P??sonl?af - October 15, 2025, 2:36 pm

BTC will be 90.000

ETH will be 3100

They will still be at their dip before going up imo.

I am assuming you mean 90,000 for US-style comma-separated thousands, rather than $90.

3100 and 90K seems reasonable to me too.
I do have buy triggers set at 90K & below, but I do not think we'll hit that by Nov 1. That said, I am out of my element here in my own thread. I really try to not predict by the week or month like this, I just buy & forget.

Very nice predictions nodes.

Based on your experience, what's your human opinion on why the price of both of those would only shake by about $100-$150 from what they are now currently by November 1st?

Lets get that pumpkin.

(Oct 15, 2025 07:18 PM)Envy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Very nice predictions nodes. Seems a little unlikely, no?

What's your human opinion on why the price of both of those would only shake by about $100-$150 from what they are now by November?

Lets get that pumpkin.

1. I only ever share human opinions on here. I've proven it multiple times now. Please stop with your incorrect accusations, they are childish and you are just exposing your own lack of expertise. For example, you think that my comment about time in the market vs timing the market is "AI". That advice was taught to me when I was probably 13-15.

2. Because my numbers are actually slightly lower, but I have a little bit of optimism that we'll see a return to the 110+. For example, I came to my prediction by assuming that we will see some movement down below 110 between now and Nov 1, but end optimistically around where we are now. For ETH, I was thinking more around $3.9K but felt like ETH didn't crash as low as my personal TA "allowed for", and I think we could see it stay stronger.

If you look at all of my ranges in any of these threads, you can pretty much plot out support lines and peaks to see what i mean.

I'm really just relaying support & resistance lines, but with some leeway given the number of factors that apply... tariffs, gold, stocks, inflation, etc. The crypto charts today are not the same as the charts of the past. Things react differently.

Simply put, my ETH prediction is optimistic, and it is only closer to what it is now because I think BTC will dip before nov 1, and ETH will too, but I predict it will not by as much proportionately.

from there I am predicting that we'll see a recover to current numbers, landing around the areas I predicted.

Again though, I prefer TA over 1-3+ years, with quarterly reviews for finances, with mostly 5-10+ year investments. I don't really think I'll be accurate for Nov 1, it's pointless to predict a 1-2 week cycle like this. The prediction for this thread is 30K+ away from my top & bottom predictions overall for the current range, or what I sometimes call a 'channel'.

I didn't use AI for this post either my friend, but accuse me anyways I guess!

I'd like to see 140 that soon, but personally I'm thinking more like Dec-Feb for a solid push to 140 and beyond. We'll see though

Buy & hold regardless, sell in 2035 :)

(Oct 15, 2025 07:49 PM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am hoping for the same man, why not 2040 if I dare ask? 2025 + 10 years, but could be 2040, I really just mean that the numbers today are likely profitable for anyone to buy at whether it's at $30k or $140k.

My theory is this:

> if i spend $1000 today, it's likely more in 10 years for certain assets / stocks / etc > if my $1000 today is $0.01 in 10 years, I will have many other $1K bets in the markets over the next 10 years to make up for it.

> You can't hold something you sold yesterday, but you can always sell something that you hold today. There are 3,650 closes between now & then, with plenty of chances to sell if an investment is too rocky to hold onto

I personally found that when I invest and think like this, there isn't much emotion involved. In a worst case scenario, I can still build an entire life for myself in 10 years from now. The chances of having nothing in 10 years from investments over the next 10 years? If I have nothing from that, then there's a good chance the global economy is fucked too. In other words, it's almost zero-risk (not quite).

If you have the discipline to save money, invest money, and hold onto investments over 10+ years, you can escape a lot of the losses many others see with short-term plans.

I never specifically said you did nor did I say or imply you use it for every post or that it's used to necessary write the post or even that it's copy and pasted which I never claimed. I also never said copy and pasting your original posts into ChatGPT was a 100% definite way of detecting if it's AI-assisted or written, you seem to be stuck on that as well.

Point was you're point form steal content from ChatGPT responses and that's okay. Doesn't matter if you prompt it once or tailor it 100 times to get your result.

When you're upset, you talk normal like a human and that's great, you've proven that and only that, really. You're going to "die on that hill" metaphorically as you've already spoiled your new name, you've started to use GPT ironically rather than unironically, and now you're doing your own research and starting to do your own analysis - so the thread worked? All that "smoke and mirrors" but actually making human content now.

I love how you've never really ever posted in the crypto subforums, but change your name, and just all of a sudden gained all this knowledge and expertise and have so much to prove, all in light of Oktoberfest. If nothing I've "accused" you of isn't even remotely true, why even bother entertaining it or being so affected by it?

I wonder what alias and subforum will be next.

Mate, I don't use GPT for HF, I'm not a fucking retard like half of the kids you probably could describe like this.

You're offensive to me, and honestly, you're just wrong.

I have never once used AI to assist me in writing a post on HF, I really don't know how else to explain this extremely basic concept to you. I don't understand why you think I do, I've literally been writing the way I do for 20 years on forums...

Wtf... You're fucking delusional, it's weird as fuck.

Gained knowledge? I decided to swing by Crypto because SUI-# asked me to and I decided to stay. I could do this anywhere, I'm not some fucking skid...

Nothing I'm even talking about is complicated, or advanced. It's weird that you continue to accuse me of this.

I dislike being accused of things I don't do, that's all.

The alias is opsec & unrelated to my posts.

If SRRP wasn't gone, you'd see multiple threads of mine related to Sumer, Enki, etymology, and more.

What do you think I am trying to hide? I stand by 100% of what I said before my vacation, and after. I'm not hiding anything or trying to obscure any of my actual content.

Yeah sorry 90k or 90,000

It's funny how even something as simple as numbers there is a difference in typing.

For example for me 90.000 = 90k & 90,000 = $90

90k with 2 numbers under zero would be 90.000,00

I think it will be able to go over 250.

Here's a nice optimistic quote about SOL's ecosystem:

Quote:And during the past 12 months, Solana's ecosystem TVL climbed by about 198% to reach roughly $38.5 billion. Ethereum doubled its TVL during the same period, and it still has a much higher TVL, at about $362.7 billion today. So it's also growing rapidly, just not anywhere near as rapidly as Solana.

Yes, if you just watch ETH performance compared to SOL; it's pretty intuitive to notice compared to when looking at the last year on any basic technical chart for ETH. That said, I almost feel as though ETH is a wild beast just waiting to be let out of the cage with everything coming up.

I agree... A lot of people hate on ETH, but I do strongly feel that Ethereum has done more for crypto technology & markets in general than Bitcoin has. Take with a grain of salt, a lot of Eth uses are backed by BTC, and Bitcoin paved the way... But ETH development has done a LOT for the industry overall.

Definitely expected to see some movement down. This is why I am putting my prediction so close to the value it was at... I am predicting movement towards 100K, and movement back towards 120K, with it settling around 112-113 (so I met in middle at 112.5 for my prediction).

I hope people don't freak out, this type of pattern is very normal and I think a crash back towards 100K is healthy in the long-run.

I keep saying it, but investors should be prepared for a crash to 70-90k. The current channels definitely support that type of crash, and if you go back to 1 year ago, a lot of people would still be in the green at a 90k bitcoin. There's plenty of room to go down without major concerns.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
