You can go to <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=analytics> and check out your analytics for the last 28 days. Here's a picture of mine; feel free to share yours too!

It's looking no better than the great depression of the 1920's.

I'm surprised nobody posted a SS

Oh_Well - October 20, 2025, 5:58 am

This is mine.

What are the "best response" and "blogs" ones?

Yin Yang - October 20, 2025, 6:08 am

I'll send it over once im at home. On mobile it looks a little clunky

If someone makes a thread (either they have a question or it's a conveying topic) and another member makes a great response to it, that answer or response to the topic can get marked as the best response.

We used to have a blog section on HF where users could submit blog posts, which had to be manually approved. Each approved blog post would count toward your blog analytic.

My analytics are laughable but would absolutely embarrass the majority of this thread had I had my original stats. (Not you though you got me beat)

My posts are:

Posts
485
16,066.7%

Nothing else exciting.

PhillyStyle - October 20, 2025, 3:25 pm

My trend lines are looking good. Just with smaller numbers than you guys.

That's dope I knew there had to be a way to track those different things so one doesn't have to keep manually counting up things to keep track of their progress especially during times like Octoberfest.

Still got 270 more posts to go and 4 threads! If I can post 30 a day I should be able to make it just in time hopefully

Honestly never knew this was a feature.

Pretty cool to look at.
