It was for creating a video about HF. I received back in 2013 I guess.

Probably the White Hat Helper I was so proud to get it after devoting many years helping members on HF with malware removal, white hat / cybersecurity guides, etc. Unfortunately this award kinda lost its meaning / value as it has been given to people for no reason related to helping other members. Still happy to have it tho :)

I'm looking toward others right now, but Omni never really granted me one by his own, I got the White Hat Helper award thanks to Charlie who said to Omni that I deserved it.

I've conducted dozens of malware analysis on programs shared by members who tried to infect other members, but seems that it wasn't enough to get The Protector award

What's your favorite ?

So the white hat helper is for helping users remove malware ?

Hmm maybe this thread will be viewed by staff that also think you deserve the protector award , your effort is tireless

The first ones have been given to people active in the White Hat section, and most of them were part of the HijackThis Team and then Malware Removal Team, but it's not limited to malware removal.

It was initially for members contributing to the White Hat section, then members contributing in other sections too, like guides to new members on HF (what are bytes, how to deal safely on HF, and so on ..), and aside of that there is this one for example "Because you made even more dicks than Khalifa to cum, I bestow you this award."

Thanks man, I appreciate :)

I've always wanted the green alien award. If I get to a much better place financially I'll ask Omni to purchase it.

The one for helpfulness — it actually means you've made an impact
