Thread: Do you fear death?

Eran - October 23, 2025, 8:36 am

Personally I don't. We are just souls having a human experience. Death is not the end, it's a new beginning. I believe we should live this life to the fullest, fulfill our purpose, be kind. I don't fear death.

What about you?

Russian bear - October 23, 2025, 8:38 am

No i do not fear death, I always think about death , But what's scary about death is what happens next after you die based on what you believe.

I like that perspective. I try not to fear death either, but it does make me think about how much more there is to experience while I'm here. Makes every day feel a little more meaningful.

psickophant - October 23, 2025, 9:19 am

Due to my faith, I do not fear death. I welcome it. I try to live every day like it is my last. Some days I do better than others. To be honest, earlier in life, I did have a fear of the unknown. As my faith developed, that fear dissipated.

I try not to think about it... my anxiety's already doing overtime.

onlineuser | D3RFER - October 23, 2025, 10:30 am

To be honest.

I fear losing people to death more than dying myself.

Not to worried about dying if who I love is already dead, then it is what it is.

Also kind of curious to figure out what the hell happens.

Do you believe in life after death?

Oh_Well - October 23, 2025, 11:01 am

If I overthink it, yeah, otherwise I think I have a belief that we are energy in the universe and energy cannot disappear, it just transforms.

Astaroth - October 23, 2025, 11:33 am

If we consider how many people, including loved ones, who have already passed, there shouldn't be any reason to fear death itself. I would prefer if my last moment is as pain free as possible, and that I will join late family members.

R.I.P to all who died. ??

DAL-SHA - October 23, 2025, 11:44 am

Just like you said sir , Death is the new beginning , we are just souls passing by ..

diablospartan - October 23, 2025, 12:05 pm

No my real fear its the thing that i will go old this scares me the most

Regarding death i am positive and i think we live a multitude of lives and death its not the end just a new start

Rahul007rhp - October 23, 2025, 2:14 pm

I dont fear death , i already feel like im dead from inside :')

Having worked literally with death so much and even worked against it by trying to save somebody's life it makes you understand just how precious and grateful we should be to be alive. I lost so many close friends of mine growing up to drugs, accidents or cancer/diseases and it made me want to live my life to the fullest

Yin Yang - October 23, 2025, 2:59 pm

Nah im not scared

MadScientist - October 23, 2025, 3:39 pm

Death No, the pain and agony leading up to it yes.

sharn - October 26, 2025, 4:24 am

Yes, I fear death because I do not know what happens afterward.

I do not like uncertainty.

Joel - October 26, 2025, 5:31 am

All the liars on this thread. No I don't fear death. pushes back their glasses, Adjusts their laptop screen back - Full of anime protagonists.

JoshAllen - October 26, 2025, 6:59 am

Yup. Only happened a couple years ago.

Not sure what triggered me, but I really got into the headspace of what is the point of living if we just die.

I read somewhere the older you get, the more okay you are with it. So because I am younger, I have faith I will be more okay about it later.

Ieste - October 26, 2025, 4:06 pm

No, I'm not afraid. I'm living my life very productively.

Iaksor - January 12, 2026, 4:02 am

Yes, but not in the usual sense, I fear dying whilst i lived my life in vain, without a true purpose, I fear dying without having expressed my love to my loved ones in every way possible and I fear dying while taking a shit cus fuck that :sob:

Whitechoco - January 13, 2026, 6:01 am

Wouldn't say i fear it, but i do envision the impact of my death often. Only then I truly realize how precious our existence is.

RangoWorld - January 13, 2026, 11:49 pm

What an interesting question.

I don't fear death per say. But I fear that if it comes now. It'll robe me of an opportunity to experience life things that other people around me (still living do).

Though I understand life is a game in which nobody makes it out alive. So in a way. Everyone's destined to lose at the end.

K4RM4 - January 14, 2026, 6:50 am

Not really. It's a miracle I've made it this long.

Personally its the dying part more than being dead that worries me if anything and without question its life thats the scariest proposition by far, think about it, upon your arrival youre pushed by a cunt whilst weak and defenseless into a place where you fight to survive but no one gets out alive,

King Shroom - January 14, 2026, 8:56 am

Believe it or not I am a few months off 60 years old I was born in 1966 so I have lived on the planet for 6 decades,

I am not to well at the moment and my doctor have given me 10 years to live 2 years ago as I have blocked arteries so I had to change my diet and hopefully it may give me longer.

Anyway with knowing this I have 1 decade or 2 at the most, as you cant buy back time, I know the majority of members here are young and don't really think or understand what its like when you are closer to death.

I am scared yes as I have lived such a great life and have a wife, son and granddaughter, and I always think about them if I go,

I reminisce about my childhood everyday since about 2 years ago and would love to do it all again but cant and I think about what would I change but I cant.

Time is so precious, life is also, never take it for granted, you have been given a fantastic chance so make the most of it as it will be over before you know it.

not really, after overdosing so many times and being so near death being revived & the crazy situations getting shot at doing dumb shit when i was younger before i got clean lol. im just not scared at all lol. if anything i embrace it a bit but obviously want to live a long life as we all do. But we all die its inevitable
