Thread: If you could time-travel, past or future?

You can visit for one month. No consequences, just experience.

Would you go back in time or see what's ahead?

The 80s would be pretty boss or just back to the start of BTC and buy a huge bag

Me cruising down the street blasting Ozzy Osbourne in a Pontiac Firebird high on cocaine about to blow everyones mind in 10 years when i create Facebook and Twitter ??

Jamika - October 24, 2025, 7:02 am

Past ofc , and i will enjoy the time when i was a kid and plays in streets.

DAL-SHA - October 24, 2025, 10:28 am

Of course the present , just to learn and be careful of what's upcoming !! the past is the past it has already been done , why would i ?? We illuminate in front of us while walking in dark places ..

Just by watching your young self play ?? Unique perspective imo ..

diablospartan - October 24, 2025, 11:56 am

In my case i would go in the past .I miss a girl like an idiot and i will regret all my life

Really sir ?? You would go without any interactions and just stay there for a month ?? So you can make the scar much much more painful and the wound in your heart deeper ??? Why ?? Did you miss a small detail there that you want to rewind it ??

I'd go back in time to when bitcoin just came about and keep all the bitcoins that I had. I remember cashing out tons of bitcoins to get a bunch of pizza for dinner for my family and I was bragging about how I got it all for "free" ? since I was mining them I considered it being free. I remember being so hype too lol I wish I had just a couple bitcoins left from back then because I would've been rich as hell today

If you go to certain times in the future, you may see something that already has been.
If you go to certain times in the past, you may see something that has yet to come.

There's no guarantee either way of what we'll see because we can't account for actual activity throughout millions of years on Earth, nor the next few million either.

I suppose maybe going back to the Laschamps event roughly 40k+ years ago. Although the Neanderthals basically went extinct, so it's really hard to say which would be better - their death, or their rule. It sure would be interesting to see maybe 20-30K years ago, or 12-20K too

Really anytime in the last 50K is known to be exciting, but man, I really would want to see 1M+ years in past or future.

Would definitely go back to the past like 90s to early 2000s it was the best time.... i cant see the future being better than that Right same here that's what I said. Those were definitely some of the Golden days for me.

Yanix - October 25, 2025, 5:42 am

Could it be half month on the past and half month for the future?

Ieste - October 25, 2025, 4:08 pm

I would go back in time. I would like to see Atatürk.

kzldn5cu0r - October 25, 2025, 4:42 pm

I'd go to the future to see what technology and life would look like. I'd also like to know if World War III would break out. I'd also like to know if aliens would invade.

Yeah same. the world right now has been a mess for at least 5 years now

I cant even think of the future being better.... at least not soon. economy and everything else i think is just gonna keep getting worse

Jinu - October 25, 2025, 11:05 pm

I think I'd go back in time. There's something fascinating about reliving certain moments with the wisdom I have now, maybe even appreciating things I didn't notice before.

sharn - October 26, 2025, 1:50 am

I would go back and tell my past self to buy Bitcoin.
Timing is everything.
