Thread: Whats Something You Achieved That No One Believed You Could?

Have you ever accomplished something nobody thought you could, big or small, it doesn't matter. What's that one thing you pulled off when no one believed in you?

Becoming a firefighter mainly because in Philadelphia it's extremely hard to pass the test and even being accepted to take it is hard. Most firefighters had to take it several times before being accepted and passing it and I did it all on the first attempt ??

Hooking up with all the "cool pretty girls" in high school after we graduated. Literally got with all of the ones I used to crush on and nobody thought I would

I set up an elaborate scheme to catch a thief that stole two million dollars, plus another 50 thousand off other people back in the late 90s when many people didn't think of putting in a video camera.

But to be honest to my shock no one really gave me any credit or kudos for it when I pulled off every part of the a complicated scheme to do it.

The owner of that business did end up giving me a lot of money but it wasn't for saving him millions from that thief that had been stealing from him for three years , but instead it turned out to be because he had a crush on me, but I didn't really get that and just wondered why he was periodically putting thousands in my account he hoped to woo me away from my husband but I didn't get that and he told me it was for being his friend because I was one person that never asked him for money so I got all this money.

The other one I do have a master's degree with honours and my principal in elementary/primary school happily told my parents I wasn't good enough to ever go to university.

I'm still trying to achieve that. I have given myself early next year as the deadline. No one believes me right now. It's hard to believe in yourself. But I gotta try.

I've worked for 2 LCS teams.

Lots of people asked how they could do something similar but the best advice I could give them was having good timing and a lot of luck.

Finished highschool, considering at one point I nearly failed precalc. (passing for that class was 70 since honors, i had a 69.5 and it rounded up)

diablospartan - December 19, 2025, 7:39 am

I do it

I achieve to make a living online even so many people even my parents called me a wishful dreamer

I remember many years ago my father told me : Boy wake up to reality you cannot be rich online

Now i make more than his and my mom salary

DewGho - December 19, 2025, 12:15 pm

Got a driver's license ??

Oh I also got a kid to write stories who punched his teacher at school for trying to get him to write a story. No one where I worked in two and a half years before me could get him to write a story, but I did. I told him it was the most fun thing you could do at school because you could tell lies. Then I told him that for now he didn't have to look up any words in the dictionary, I'd just tell him how to spell anything, That was to get him to just let go into his creativity and he could worry about spelling at a later date.
