MSS Claims NSA Used 42 Cyber Tools in Multi-Stage Attack on Beijing Time Systems

China on Sunday accused the U.S. National Security Agency (NSA) of carrying out a "premeditated" cyber attack targeting the National Time Service Center (NTSC), as it described the U.S. as a "hacker empire" and the "greatest source of chaos in cyberspace."

The Ministry of State Security (MSS), in a WeChat post, said it uncovered "irrefutable evidence" of the agency's involvement in the intrusion

Where does one find these tools?

That's a serious claim. And part of the ongoing cyber tug of war narrative between the US and China. If proven true, it would definitely add another layer to how nations use cyber tools as silent weapons.

If true, that shows how stacked the NSA's arsenal is.

Not sure how much of this is real but messing with a whole country's security isn't a small thing
