If you know and id what it's online i can reverse the ip.

Something like CVE-2024-52940 , but not reported so it's still a 0day vulnerability.

As of the public advisories (Nov 2024 -> early 2025) CVE-2024-52940 had no vendor patch released. Consider it as not patched.

Maybe not a smart question, but if it can leak someones IP, why have they not patched? Or is it because it's like unpatchable or something that logical that I am not aware of lol

Eitherway, thanks.
