What do you think of 4chan?

James Burnham - October 31, 2025, 12:52 pm

4chan is spammy as hell, it's like a big pile of junk. You may find something useful, but most of the time it will be garbage.

DramaKing - October 31, 2025, 2:05 pm

4chan is an old forum now that you don't really see much discussion about. There might be leaks, but really it's just a dark corner of the Internet with little point that I see.

Since Covid getting all the stragglers online people can't expect to go undetected any more. I've never been to 4Chan but everything I've ever heard about it indicates it is Low Life City.

That place is fire... like a lot of serial killers and crazy people been on that website... it's insane.

I was active there for a few months. I just think there's too much noise there to make my time worthwhile. Plus the site layout absolutely suck. It's the worst UI design ever of any forum platform I've come across.

I never quite understood the format of the whole thing. Strange name and strange subfolders that makes no sense. What were they thinking? ?

I committed a spelling error and had to edit. ?
