Thread: BTC Zoom-out 2015 to 2031 chart optimism

Hackers - November 2, 2025, 8:13 am

Here is the zoom out of BTC for the 2015-2031 timeframe.

The charts show a few indicators from TradingView, and trend lines are drawn on 2015 open to peak, the 2019-2020 revival peak, 2021/2 peak.

If peaks are an indicator for long-term tests, then you can see how we have recently tested the 2021-2 peak, and in 2024 we tested the trend from the 2017 peak, and in 2022 we fell below the 2019 peak but in 2023 we found support there and pumped towards 80k through 2024 and 25.

My theory is that we are on track for a trend that has us testing this area and with any luck, we'll create a never before scene trend line in an epic bull run.

Up until now, we have previous peak trends to test against, but this is changing. There are no more upward bounds I can draw without speculation.

My theory rests on this trend line finding support, and redefining Bitcoin's future above it. For this theory to hold true, which I believe is true, then Bitcoin will need to rest at above 160k by the start of 2031.

This is great news because I think we'll see 160k in coming months. You can see here that in start of 2025 we rejected the trend line set from the 2017 peak and came back up towards 120k.

If we track the channels & zoom out, I think we can see a much more interesting picture.

I hope this spreads optimism in the community. It's important to see the big picture, and have faith that we are right. The world deserves bitcoin, and they will be honored to buy it at higher prices in the future, in my opinion.

People need to zoom out and stick to the higher time frames(Monthly, nothing below that)

Since the FTX fiasco in 2022, BTC has been on a bull run(uptrend), creating all-time highs many times, but each minor retracement creates panic. BTC has made history numerous times, and as soon as the price stops trending up or creates a retracement to the downside, FUD comes into play. Look at what BTC did in Q4 of 2022 up until now (15k to 126k in 3 years), and worry about the market coming down, haha.

This shows that many crypto investors put all their eggs in one basket, with a lot of risk on the table, as it suggests that they are hoping, and perhaps even wishing, that BTC continues to rise steadily, allowing for capital gains to be earned in a short amount of time. This is exactly why the Greed and Fear index exists. Greed will have individuals thinking irrationally.

As a true investor, you want a pullback to the downside so you can get in or average in more on your current positions.

Risking buying at all-time highs is a significant risk, I understand, because the price can go even higher; however, patience is a very undervalued trait that most people don't practice.

I wonder how many people were getting into BTC around the 15k-30k price range compared to the higher prices.

At this moment, BTC is currently in a range; it could go higher or lower, which is yet to be determined. However, for lower prices, FUD sentiment will likely emerge to justify a move due to the fundamental nature of BTC.

The point is to view BTC as a long-term investment, as NODES implies in this thread. Day to day and week to week fluctuations should not throw you off your long-term investment goals for BTC.

Yeah pretty much

This chart is a good way to view it, but the theory itself has some more speculation thrown in yeah, 70kish is definitely doable, without it being a bear, that would still be bullish

Sorry, who are you talking to?

This thread isn't about swaps or rates or anything related to what you've just said.

And what service is being promoted?

This is a Bitcoin chart sir.

I think you're replying in the wrong thread or something.

So you just create a new account to post the same comment on different threads? Sorry, but your life must be pretty shitty if you waste your time doing that. ?

Hackers He just copies and pastes the same comment on different threads. Just report it, and the staff will take care of it.?
