I was looking for a vibe or style of music and found one I haven't heard before

Interesting song, I like it but definitely different than what people may be used to

If you listen to the full thing you'll see what I mean about how it's a mix of different styles example: last 30 seconds is a guy saying "ill fuck you til you love me"

Bare in mind I believe thsi girl is spanish, is fluent english and she's singing advanced german in this. With music versatility I've never seen before

Really, really cool song for exactly those reasons

I was in convo talking to jcole about liking all types of music and trying to figure out what I wanted to listen to for some work...

Then stumbled into this very cool song

Song is amazing for sure, not one you could play on repeat tho it's like reading the dictionary imo. unique to say the least - I love my music and like to keep an eye on what's going on, currently Kingfishr is nothing but my jam.

I'll check out Kingfishr, and yeah, can't listen to it on repeat, but I have given it a few listens tonight

I listened to a bunch of other new songs too, might share some later or tomorrow
