I am curious to hear about the events that have happened in your life this year, what is something that was most notable?

For me:

I was bound to get married this year but we dropped everything a month prior. Looking back I believe we are both thankful for the outcome, but at the time, it was tough!

Well i dont know if its relevant but this year i succed to take my driving license after so many failures

Its not a big deal as i have 2 universities and i pass plenty of exams but the practical driving exam was a nightmare for me

Now after so many exams passed this was the one who bring me the most joy
