? Important Service Update from Fusion Proxies ?

Over the last few hours, some of you may have experienced intermittent downtime on our residential proxy network. This incident affected a portion of users during the past 2 hours, causing connection drops and unstable performance.

? What Happened?

A surge in traffic triggered an overload on one of our proxy balancers, causing unexpected interruptions.

? What We Did to Fix It

Our engineering team identified the root cause and deployed an optimized load-balancing layer with improved memory handling, smarter routing, and higher concurrency support.

The issue is fully resolved, and the proxy network is back to 100% uptime.

? What's New After the Fix?

Thanks to these optimizations, Fusion Proxies can now handle significantly higher load without impacting performance, even under peak hours.

? Stronger stability

? Higher capacity

? Faster routing & failover

? Optimized balancer performance

Your privacy, speed, and reliability remain our top priorities, and we upgrade every time we learn something new.

? If you notice anything unusual or have feedback, please reach out, we're here to fix it immediately.

Thank you for your patience and trust.

Stay fast. Stay private. Stay Fusion. ?

You are false advertising the $0.65/GB because the proxies price starts at $2.48

i.postimg.cc/YCSz2RqT/image.png

That accusation isn't accurate. The displayed $0.65/GB rate represents the lowest effective price available at higher data allocations, which is exactly how pricing is presented across the entire proxy industry. Every major provider advertises starting-at or volume-discount rates the same way.

Lower prices become available as the purchased amount increases, and the Subscription option applies an additional discount on top of that, reducing the cost even further.

So there is nothing misleading about showing the lowest achievable per-GB price.

It's a standard, widely accepted pricing format, and customers still receive the exact rate that is advertised when choosing the corresponding plan.

Yes but most providers have it advertised as their starting price, your advertisement says this is the price for residential proxies, you might consider updating this to say starting price so buyers know what they are getting themselves into. FusionProxy offers a full spectrum of proxy solutions including residential, mobile, ISP, and datacenter proxies to suit a wide range of technical and commercial use cases like web scraping, competitive intelligence, SEO monitoring, social media automation, and more.

Strong Features and Functionality

From what FusionProxy advertises, the platform delivers a high-trust network of IP addresses, enabling users to route connections through authentic residential, mobile, and ISP-based endpoints rather than easily blocked datacenter proxies. This makes it particularly useful for tasks where avoiding detection and minimizing blocks are critical.

Users can expect:

Diverse proxy types that adapt to different project needs whether you're gathering public online data, running geo-specific automation tasks, or managing multiple accounts across platforms.

Support for standard proxy protocols (HTTP, HTTPS, SOCKS5), which helps ensure broad compatibility with popular software stacks and tools.

Fusion Proxy

A trusted residential proxy infrastructure that helps simulate regular user behavior online, increasing success rates for automation and scraping.

Reliability and Global Reach

The service is positioned as a trusted residential proxy provider that helps businesses access data and bypass geo-blocks while maintaining anonymity online. This suggests a focus on uptime and dependable connectivity key factors for professional users who rely on uninterrupted access.

Versatile Use Cases

FusionProxy is not limited to a single niche; it serves a variety of applications:

Competitive data collection and SERP monitoring

Automated social media account management

Market intelligence and price comparison research

Bypassing geo-restrictions and secure browsing

This versatility makes the platform well suited for marketers, SEO professionals, developers, and data analysts seeking a one-stop proxy solution.

Thanks at the Team ?

FusionProxy - December 19, 2025, 8:48 am

? SOCKS5 Support is Now Live — Across All FusionProxy Networks!

We're excited to announce that FusionProxy now fully supports SOCKS5 on ALL proxy types:

? Residential (ISP)

? Datacenter (DC)

? Mobile (4G / 5G)

This update gives you maximum flexibility, better compatibility, and full protocol control — all with the same credentials and performance you already trust.

? One Network. Multiple Protocols.

You can now switch instantly between:

HTTP / HTTPS

SOCKS5

? Directly inside your FusionProxy dashboard

? No config changes

? No extra fees

? No new usernames

Your existing username, password, geo targeting, and session logic work instantly.

? Why SOCKS5?

SOCKS5 is perfect for power users who need low-level TCP control and maximum compatibility:

- Works flawlessly with desktop apps, bots, scrapers & automation tools
- More stable for multi-threaded & high-concurrency tasks
- Lower latency routing
- Improved stealth & flexibility
- Ideal for social platforms, browser automation & scraping
- Zero additional configuration required

? Test It Instantly

Residential / ISP

curl -x socks5://resi.fusionproxy.net:5391 -U "username:password" ipinfo.io

Datacenter (DC)

curl -x socks5://dc.fusionproxy.net:5392 -U "username:password" ipinfo.io

Mobile (4G / 5G)

curl -x socks5://mobile.fusionproxy.net:5393 -U "username:password" ipinfo.io

? Already Live in Your Dashboard

Simply choose SOCKS5 in:

Endpoint Generator

Proxy Info section

The system automatically adjusts the correct port based on:

Proxy type (ISP / DC / Mobile)

Selected protocol (HTTP or SOCKS5)

? Same Fusion Performance. More Control.

More protocols.

More flexibility.

Same powerful Fusion infrastructure.

? Stay fast. Stay private. Stay Fusion.

Walther - December 24, 2025, 12:54 am

Purchased 1x proxy to test over 24 hours ago and still shows order is pending.

FusionProxy - December 25, 2025, 6:42 pm

? System Update: Pricing & Coupon Calculations Fixed ?

We've successfully rolled out a fix for our pricing and coupon calculation system.

? What's been fixed:

Coupon discounts are now applied correctly across all plans

Pricing calculations are fully consistent for all durations (1, 30, 60, 90 days)

Quantity-based discounts and plan-based discounts now work together as intended

Subscription totals now always reflect the exact final price — no mismatches

? What this means for you:

Transparent and accurate pricing

Correct discounts applied at checkout

No unexpected price changes

Same plans, same network — now with fully reliable calculations

The update is already live in the dashboard and applies automatically to all new orders.

Thanks for your patience while we fine-tuned the system — and as always, we're continuing to improve things behind the scenes.

? Stay fast. Stay private. Stay Fusion.

Great news ?

Dolmaa - January 3, 2026, 4:07 pm

forgive my ignorance but can someone educate me on why you would need something like this?

FusionProxy - March 13, 2026, 3:20 am

(Jan 3, 2026 05:07 PM)Dolmaa Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) forgive my ignorance but can someone educate me on why you would need something like this?

No worries. Proxies like residential or mobile are used to simulate real users from different locations and networks.

They are commonly used for things like SEO testing, ad verification, web scraping, managing multiple accounts, and checking how websites or ads appear in different countries.

Residential and mobile proxies are especially useful because they use real ISP or mobile network IP addresses, which makes the traffic look more natural compared to datacenter IPs.

FusionProxy - March 14, 2026, 4:44 am

? Product Update: ISP & Rotating ISP Proxies Now Available ?

We're excited to announce two new proxy types have been added to the FusionProxy lineup!

? What's new:

ISP Proxies — Static residential IPs hosted on datacenter infrastructure. The best of both worlds: datacenter speed with residential trust scores.

Rotating ISP Proxies — Same ISP-grade IPs, now with automatic rotation. Perfect for scraping, automation, and tasks that require both speed and clean IPs.

? What this means for you:

Full country targeting support

Multiple duration plans available (1, 30, 60, 90 days)

Competitive pricing with quantity discounts

Available immediately in your dashboard under the new ISP section

Both proxy types are live right now — head to the dashboard and give them a try.

As always, more updates are in the pipeline. ?

? Stay fast. Stay private. Stay Fusion.
