

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: IT & tech staff rank among world's least motivated workers

The Pact - November 7, 2025, 2:02 am

Global research highlights a troubling trend: IT and tech service professionals are among the least motivated workers across all sectors.

The Motivational Maps assessment covers a diverse sample of employees from over 100 countries, though participation levels varied by country. Motivation scores are derived from the level of fulfilment across nine motivating factors.

Findings point to a strategic opportunity: employers can elevate motivation by implementing regular assessments and designing roles that align with purpose, development, and impact.

<https://itbrief.co.nz/story/it-tech-staff-rank-among-world-s-least-motivated-workers>

RangoWorld - November 7, 2025, 5:48 am

Is the case that the more the work is out of tune with nature. The less fulfilment a person is likely to get?

The Pact - November 7, 2025, 3:53 pm

(Nov 7, 2025 06:48 AM)RangoWorld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is the case that the more the work is out of tune with nature. The less fulfilment a person is likely to get?

Many tech workers apparently feel their roles are reduced to task execution rather than strategic contribution, leading to loss of meaning and motivation.