

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Body cam of the guy who always left his 2 year old in the car so he could watch porn.

The Pact - November 7, 2025, 7:16 pm

Christopher Scholtes left his 2-year-old daughter in a hot car in Arizona— where the temperature reached 109 degrees — while he searching for porn inside his home.

When you look into this story the dude was just a straight up psychopath. And you can see it on the video too. He lovebombed some rich doctor to let him be a stay at home dad, but never actually took after the little girls who he left in the car at least 50 times before the youngest died.

But the body cam is interesting to watch because you can see how much he doesn't give a fuck about anything but being charged.

EWU Bodycam is the best one to view on this but they won't let me share. I'll try to find another one.

Ok the one I wanted to share that I couldn't is much better EWU Bodycam. The judge even was going to not let the jury hear he was watching porn. He was also playing play station during the over three hours she was in there.

Feels like his rich wife bought people off so much for him. The funny thing is he didn't realise he could have tried flying to a non extradition country instead of killing himself on the day he was supposed to be sentenced- since the judge let that couple do whatever they wanted and even go on a holiday to Hawaii before sentencing.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oSBRvcaZuiE>]

Replace - November 7, 2025, 10:53 pm

He killed himself? Just checked the internet for hot news, he really did killed himself, really tragic for him as well, people are so afraid of going into prison or facing the consequence its really tough to accept death as an alternative to everything you are afraid off.

I sometimes wonder, when a robber comes across you and tells you to hand over the things so that you go free, why not ask the robber to shoot you instead of giving away the things because the same fear of death is ahead of you, instead of waiting on a probability that you might get shot or you might live, just ask him to kill you instead of pull the gun off his hand and shoot yourself.

Its the same for his case at least that is what I think, he might have gotten parole for good behavior or further pursuing the case or challenging the case might open different opportunities or might even walked free instead of getting prison, just from the fear of getting a life sentence or say 10-12 years off your life, he decides to kill himself even after getting a great vacation and free life for at least a few months.

Having that off a wife who paid that much for her instead of choosing divorce means a lot in states in these days, because its rare and him killing is totally a coward act in my opinion. But whatever!

The Pact - November 7, 2025, 11:06 pm

(Nov 7, 2025 11:53 PM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He killed himself? Just checked the internet for hot news, he really did killed himself, really tragic for him as well, people are so afraid of going into prison or facing the consequence its really tough to accept death as an alternative to everything you are afraid off.

I sometimes wonder, when a robber comes across you and tells you to hand over the things so that you go free, why not ask the robber to shoot you instead of giving away the things because the same fear of death is ahead of you, instead of waiting on a probability that you might get shot or you might live, just ask him to kill you instead of pull the gun off his hand and shoot yourself.

Its the same for his case at least that is what I think, he might have gotten parole for good behavior or further pursuing the case or challenging the case might open different opportunities or might even walked free instead of getting prison, just from the fear of getting a life sentence or say 10-12 years off your life, he decides to kill himself even after getting a great vacation and free life for at least a few months.

Having that off a wife who paid that much for her instead of choosing divorce means a lot in states in these days, because its rare and him killing is totally a coward act in my opinion. But whatever! This was no mistake and the dude was a straight up psychopath when you really look into the story and he has a 17 year old daughter suing that was suing him and his wife for abuse, because his wife is wealthy, but apparently allowed abuse of the other daughter from ages 8 to 14 until she moved back in with her real mother. Surprise her dad was drugging her to rape her. This dude is your typical Antisocial Personality Disorder.

He's also really dumb because he thought it was fine to leave the 2 year old in the car for three hours so he could watch porn and play on the Playstation without being bothered but what he didn't get was that the airconditioning turned off after 20 minutes, but all the other times he'd done this he'd left the ten year old and the six year old locked in the garage in the car so he wouldn't have to take care of them but the reason they always lived and were OK was the ten year old knew how to turn the air conditioning back on.

Because of the history of neglect he'd been told to expect a sentence of 20 to 30 years.

Replace - November 7, 2025, 11:18 pm

(Nov 8, 2025 12:06 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This was no mistake and the dude was a straight up psychopath when you really look into the story and he has a 17 year old daughter suing that was suing him and his wife for abuse, because his wife is wealthy, but apparently allowed abuse of the other daughter from ages 8 to 14 until she moved back in with her real mother. Surprise her dad was drugging her to rape her. This dude is your typical Antisocial Personality Disorder.

He's also really dumb because he thought it was fine to leave the 2 year old in the car for three hours so he could watch porn and play on the Playstation without being bothered but what he didn't get was that the airconditioning turned off after 20 minutes, but all the other times he'd done this he'd left the ten year old and the six year old locked in the garage in the car so he wouldn't have to take care of them but the reason they always lived and were OK was the ten year old knew how to turn the air conditioning back on.

Because of the history of neglect he'd been told to expect a sentence of 20 to 30 years.

I understand everything, but there is always a second chance, and you can always expect a break off things you fall into. He shouldn't had given up unless he is sure he will be raped for next 20 years for sure. That is a kind of down syndrome leading to suicide. He got what he deserved done by himself! Justice served!

The Pact - November 7, 2025, 11:21 pm

(Nov 8, 2025 12:18 AM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I understand everything, but there is always a second chance, and you can always expect a break off things you fall into. He shouldn't had given up unless he is sure he will be raped for next 20 years for sure. That is a kind of down syndrome leading to suicide. He got what he deserved done by himself! Justice served!

It has nothing to do with Downs Syndrome. He clearly had Anti Social Personality Disorder and couldn't handle the loss of control. But what makes it really dumb is his wife bought him all kinds of privileges the jury weren't going to hear that he'd been watching porn. He could have tried flying to a non extradition country! Although mind you Donna Adleson tried that, but they'd discussed on jail phone calls or something stupid so they were caught at the airport. If he hadn't talked with anyone about it he could have maybe got away with it.

Replace - November 7, 2025, 11:38 pm

(Nov 8, 2025 12:21 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It has nothing to do with Downs Syndrome. He clearly had Anti Social Personality Disorder and couldn't handle the loss of control. But what makes it really dumb is his wife bought him all kinds of privileges the jury weren't going to hear that he'd been watching porn. He could have tried flying to a non extradition country! Although mind you Donna Adleson tried that, but they'd discussed on jail phone calls or something stupid so they were caught at the airport. If he hadn't talked with anyone about it he could have maybe got away with it.

You are correct on that point, he couldn't handle the loss of control over his life. And yes he could have fled the country but he didn't think of that, instead decided to kill himself which he might have thought gave him a re-spawn/new life or go to heaven (maybe). IDK whatever the reason be but the main part we both can agree upon is he got paranoid over loss of control over his life. ?

The Pact - November 8, 2025, 3:58 am

(Nov 8, 2025 12:38 AM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You are correct on that point, he couldn't handle the loss of control over his life. And yes he could have fled the country but he didn't think of that, instead decided to kill himself which he might have thought gave him a re-spawn/new life or go to heaven (maybe). IDK whatever the reason be but the main part we both can agree upon is he got paranoid over loss of control over his life. ?

I doubt he thought he'd go to heaven because he drugged and raped his oldest daughter when she was 13 and he knew he was being cruel leaving kids for hours in the car in the heat.

Hackers - November 8, 2025, 4:17 am

Gross that they were abusing the other girl for so long, and their neglect, abuse, and lack of care or attention to human life was shown again with the death of this 2 year old

It's a shame people like this exist and are trusted with the care of children

Yakless - November 8, 2025, 4:34 am

What an absolute piece of shit. Constantly put the lives of your own family in danger, then cry like a bitch when you're being dragged to jail.

The Pact - November 8, 2025, 3:20 pm

He was so stupid though because he left them alone in the heat multiple times, but he thought they always remained alive and always would, but the only reason they always remained alive was because the oldest child knew how to turn the air conditioning back on which always shut off after 20 minutes but the two year old didn't know how so when he left just her alone in there for over three hours she died. He didn't "get distracted" like many parents have. He was a sadistic psychopath who enjoyed leaving them to fend for themselves in the car alone all the time so they wouldn't bother him. But he was somehow too stupid to realise that the ten year old was keeping them all alive all the other times.

Replace - November 9, 2025, 2:28 am

(Nov 8, 2025 04:58 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I doubt he thought he'd go to heaven because he drugged and raped his oldest daughter when she was 13 and he knew he was being cruel leaving kids for hours in the car in the heat.

That we don't know about. You know kids these days, she is 17 and claims of rape right now, teens are very much a lie now a days, will lie and sell their parents for money and that what kind of a world we live in. But who knows! I believe in everything except that rape case!

The Pact - November 10, 2025, 5:16 pm

(Nov 9, 2025 03:28 AM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That we don't know about. You know kids these days, she is 17 and claims of rape right now, teens are very much a lie now a days, will lie and sell their parents for money and that what kind of a world we live in. But who knows! I believe in everything except that rape case!

I'm most often a friend of the underdog and can sometimes see how someone guilty of a crime had their understandable reasons. Even that woman who killed her boyfriend with a suitcase I saw that she was black out drunk when she did that.

Even Justin Ross Harris I thought he was innocent and everyone just hated him because he was a fat pervert that forgot his baby son in the car because he was obsessed with all the woman he was going to sext with during his work day and Justin Ross Harris forgot to take his son to daycare. He was convicted of murder and for years I actually thought he was innocent of murder and then he won his appeal! That hardly ever happens, but he did, but he stayed in prison because one of the females he was sexting was 15 even though she lied to him she was 18 but then when she confessed he kept sexting with her.

But anyway all that is to say a difference here I could quickly see on the bodycam videos that this dude was a straight up psychopath. ALL He cared about was if he was going to be arrested not that he killed the little girl, and the two older girls said they'd been locked in the garage 59 times prior. The older girl says she was starved, drugged and raped, and had her arm broken.

If dude leaves his 10 year old, six year old, and 2 year old in the car and garage in the Arizona heat 59 times and drives drunk with them at speeds up to 130, this dude is just a sadistic psychopath. I was like OF COURSE he raped her on top of everything else. These Antisocial Personality iDisordered people will do all the bad things.

The older girl also said she was left in the car for hours multiple times since age 7 why on earth would you think she's a liar when the other kids said they'd been ordered to stay in the car for hours 59 times. This guy had wormed his way into easy street lifestyle married to a beautiful, wealthy anesthesiologist. All he had to do is look after his own klids but he preferred to torture them while he watched porn and played games.

And if you're wondering how they survived 59 other times being ordered to stay in the car for hours alone in the Arizona heat, the reason is simple- the air-conditioning in the car always went off after 20 minutes but the oldest child always knew how to restart. That dummy didn't realise that so he thought "They'll suffer but live." He didn't think he'd end up in prison.

Replace - November 10, 2025, 8:45 pm

(Nov 10, 2025 06:16 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm most often a friend of the underdog and can sometimes see how someone guilty of a crime had their understandable reasons. Even that woman who killed her boyfriend with a suitcase I saw that she was black out drunk when she did that.

Even Justin Ross Harris I thought he was innocent and everyone just hated him because he was a fat pervert that forgot his baby son in the car because he was obsessed with all the woman he was going to sext with during his work day and Justin Ross Harris forgot to take his son to daycare. He was convicted of murder and for years I actually thought he was innocent of murder and then he won his appeal! That hardly ever happens, but he did, but he stayed in prison because one of the females he was sexting was 15 even though she lied to him she was 18 but then when she confessed he kept sexting with her.

But anyway all that is to say a difference here I could quickly see on the bodycam videos that this dude was a straight up psychopath. ALL He cared about was if he was going to be arrested not that he killed the little girl, and the two older girls said they'd been locked in the garage 59 times prior. The older girl says she was starved, drugged and raped, and had her arm broken.

If dude leaves his 10 year old, six year old, and 2 year old in the car and garage in the Arizona heat 59 times and drives drunk with them at speeds up to 130, this dude is just a sadistic psychopath. I was like OF COURSE he raped her on top of everything else. These Antisocial Personality iDisordered people will do all the bad things.

The older girl also said she was left in the car for hours multiple times since age 7 why on earth would you think she's a liar when the other kids said they'd been ordered to stay in the car for hours 59 times. This guy had wormed his way into easy street lifestyle married to a beautiful, wealthy anesthesiologist. All he had to do is look after his own klids but he preferred to torture them while he watched porn and played games.

And if you're wondering how they survived 59 other times being ordered to stay in the car for hours alone in the Arizona heat, the reason is simple- the air-conditioning in the car always went off after 20 minutes but the oldest child always knew how to restart. That dummy didn't realize that so he thought "They'll suffer but live." He didn't think he'd end up in prison.

I agree with you. Even I saw the video and saw him saying "Now you're going to arrest me" which was totally selfish. Plus, him accepting he was watching porn while his child was in the car is very childish and careless, he shouldn't had been a father ofcourse. I really don't know how US cars work, because here if we keep the AC on it doesn't go off in 20-30 mins, idk, maybe its electric and its saving its energy, I use a basic gas car and whilst blackouts used it for straight 24 hours.

As for him, he is a total sociopath IMO, not accepting his guilt, having a vacation over Hawaii whilst his daughter died just months ago, and then forgetting that he will pay the price, at last when the day came to face his judgement, he shot himself. Well whatever his mental state was in, I am sure he was not expecting to have reborn and escaping this reality, for me death is death and its total silence and you won't be reborn again, its your brain that is giving all the thought process and making you think you have a soul because your brain also wants to escape the reality of death, which is the absolute truth.

As for the claim from the 17 year old, I was just saying, I am more concerned about him leaving the kids at the car at that heat, instead of some shameful father who drugs and tries to rape a minor, also, she could had gone to the authorities beforehand but she choose to do it while it was about her infant sister, I saw a few of her mother's interview and her say was nothing regarding the dead child but rather about him and so do I think it was the case for her as well.

As a human being I feel that, when we get the chance we only try to focus on ourselves and that is the prime human logic, but when faced with the reality they try to say they are not like everyone else, even I am like that, when the time comes I will always focus on myself, and even you, or even anyone else, just because the storm didn't hit me is because I am able to say I care about them but when it will hit me, then, I will always be about myself, how I lost my house and how I lost everything and won't care my neighbors were hit bad and its because of them the media light came in, but when I will be interviewed I will always be about me if in the same screen, I was also hit by that storm. I just wanted to say that part.

Everyone gets a chance in their life, he did bad, he faced it, he just chose to go the easy way out, he could had other options in the bag but decided to close the chapter. As well as, I also feel the pain in that teens claims, if its true then I think justice been served, but we never know whats the truth except death, death is the absolute truth so when the infant died, she died, its absolute, but claims without proof or witness (even witness can be faked), in the eyes of laws are just claims is what I meant by my statement.

The Pact - November 10, 2025, 9:06 pm

(Nov 10, 2025 09:45 PM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I agree with you. Even I saw the video and saw him saying "Now you're going to arrest me" which was totally selfish. Plus, him accepting he was watching porn while his child was in the car is very childish and careless, he shouldn't had been a father ofcourse. I really don't know how US cars work, because here if we keep the AC on it doesn't go off in 20-30 mins, idk, maybe its electric and its saving its energy, I use a basic gas car and whilst blackouts used it for straight 24 hours.

As for him, he is a total sociopath IMO, not accepting his guilt, having a vacation over Hawaii whilst his daughter died just months ago, and then forgetting that he will pay the price, at last when the day came to face his judgement, he shot himself. Well whatever his mental state was in, I am sure he was not expecting to have reborn and escaping this reality, for me death is death and its total silence and you won't be reborn again, its your brain that is giving all the thought process and making you think you have a soul because your brain also wants to escape the reality of death, which is the absolute truth.

As for the claim from the 17 year old, I was just saying, I am more concerned about him leaving the kids at the car at that heat, instead of some shameful father who drugs and tries to rape a minor, also, she could had gone to the authorities beforehand but she choose to do it while it was about her infant sister, I saw a few of her mother's interview and her say was nothing regarding the dead child but rather about him and so do I think it was the case for her as well.

As a human being I feel that, when we get the chance we only try to focus on ourselves and that is the prime human logic, but when faced with the reality they try to say they are not like everyone else, even I am like that, when the time comes I will always focus on myself, and even you, or even anyone else, just because the storm didn't hit me is because I am able to say I care about them but when it will hit me, then, I will always be about myself, how I lost my house and how I lost everything and won't care my neighbors were hit bad and its because of them the media light came in, but when I will be interviewed I will always be about me if in the same screen, I was also hit by that storm. I just wanted to say that part.

Everyone gets a chance in their life, he did bad, he faced it, he just chose to go the easy way out, he could had other options in the bag but decided to close the chapter. As well as, I also feel the pain in that teens claims, if its true then I think justice been served, but we never know whats the truth except death, death is the absolute truth so when the infant died, she died, its absolute, but claims without proof or witness (even witness can be faked), in the eyes of laws are just claims is what I meant by my statement.

She actually started the law suit BEFORE her sister died. Like most people who are raped by someone very wealthy she's taking a civil case for child abuse that was started before her half sister died.

Her bio mother is now dead so as a 16 year old she decided to sue the wealthy couple when her bio mom died. She was taken out of his care after attempting suicide and telling child protective services that she tried to kill herself because of all the father did and that if she had to go back to him she would do it again.

Not sure how he got custody over the bio mom. Maybe because they were wealthy. She says the first time she was left alone for hours in a car she was 7.

Anyway there are many reasons why people don't report rape until a lot of years after it happens. I think only a psychopath would lie about rape and that's only 2% of the population that are psychopaths apparently.

Anyway her bio mom died and her best friend's mom has taken care of her since. She gave an interview saying that she will never be the same person that she was before all the abuse and she even said the step mum beat her as well and child protective services were called after he broke her arm one time. But this couple paid people off for various things that seems clear.

Her aunt and her current guardian also talked to the press about how she was abused.

Replace - November 10, 2025, 9:14 pm

(Nov 10, 2025 10:06 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) She actually started the law suit BEFORE her sister died. Like most people who are raped by someone very wealthy she's taking a civil case for child abuse that was started before her half sister died.

Her bio mother is now dead so as a 16 year old she decided to sue the wealthy couple when her bio mom died. She was taken out of his care after attempting suicide and telling child protective services that she tried to kill herself because of all the father did and that if she had to go back to him she would do it again.

Not sure how he got custody over the bio mom. Maybe because they were wealthy. She says the first time she was left alone for hours in a car she was 7.

Anyway there are many reasons why people don't report rape until a lot of years after it happens. I think only a psychopath would lie about rape and that's only 2% of the population that are psychopaths apparently.

Anyway her bio mom died and her best friend's mom has taken care of her since. She gave an interview saying that she will never be the same person that she was before all the abuse and she even said the step mum beat her as well and child protective services were called after he broke her arm one time. But this couple paid people off for various things that seems clear.

Her aunt and her current guardian also talked to the press about how she was abused.

Yes, I agree with you, I didn't knew that she started the suit before her sister died, else I would had not said what I said, I didn't go deep into her case, and thought she came to limelight because of her half sisters death. My apologies on this regard. As for searching the suit, I am not good with US case searches, so apologies on that regard as well. I also didn't knew her bio-mother died as media can be so mis-leading because now as you mentioned her current guardian (was addressed as her mother from a different child) by the crappy YouTube media which crapped everything up in my mind. As for lying, as I said, I won't judge anything over the cover, he is dead so this should be her redemption at least. As for the family, money is the root of all evil, money makes everything go south and makes everyone envy and also saves evil from the poor, so that maybe the case as well.

Glad to have this cleared up, I was misguided on this fact.

The Pact - November 10, 2025, 9:16 pm

(Nov 10, 2025 09:45 PM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well whatever his mental state was in, I am sure he was not expecting to have reborn and escaping this reality, for me death is death and its total silence and you won't be reborn again, its your brain that is giving all the thought process and making you think you have a soul because your brain also wants to escape the reality of death, which is the absolute truth.

but claims without proof or witness (even witness can be faked), in the eyes of laws are just claims is what I meant by my statement.

Re the first quote that's exactly what my father always told me. I'm unsure about that though. He told me that when I was like 2 drinking milk at the dining room table.

Re the second quote---- under what you are saying almost no rapists could ever be convicted ever. But people do go to jail for rape without physical witnesses.

Witnesses in court don't just mean people who saw something with their eyes though.

Replace - November 10, 2025, 9:26 pm

(Nov 10, 2025 10:16 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Re the first quote that's exactly what my father always told me. I'm unsure about that though. He told me that when I was like 2 drinking milk at the dining room table.

Re the second quote---- under what you are saying almost no rapists could ever be convicted ever. But people do go to jail for rape without physical witnesses.

Witnesses in court don't just mean people who saw something with their eyes though.

Where I live my late husband actually saw this girl he didn't know three days before she was murdered. The police finally found her body twenty years later. They never solved the case. Still haven't. But someone whose parents had a summer home like only several feet away from where the body was found....police obviously asked this woman who was going to accuse that guy with rape until her best friend was murdered and then she dropped the case. The police obviously asked her if she wanted to reopen it twenty one years later after the body was found and he was convicted of the rape based on the murder victim's diary! Because the murder victim had been pounding on the door during the rape and he put furniture in front of the door. They convicted him partly on the murdered girls diary.

But I think the police put that in place to try and get him to say something so they could get him for the murder, but they've never felt they had enough evidence to try anyone for the murder.

Well I am glad yours father's part thought rules as mine and I'm humbled by that.

Secondly, yes, I am never on rapist's side, and sex without consent is considered rape, even I never had sex with my wife with her sleeping and she fights because of that but she doesn't understand my mentality so I excuse her and always say I am a straight forward person, if you want something, you need to tell me, not round and merry go round things up. As for him, he got what he deserved and he even got paranoid I guess, like who watches porn at that age when you have 3 daughters and have a wife who you can do what you are watching. Either he was into kids and was not getting what he needed from the woman or had other kinks, really even as for me, I have a lot of other real work to do then watch p. Plus, at least where I live, when you have a daughter you should think about their future and promote to have a better future for them and work in it, as daughters are prizes who will leave you once they get a partner, but sons are the once who will still stay even when you are on your death bed (if you want them too and not kick them out like in the west), but that's that! And again, sorry for the misunderstanding we had between us, I didn't mean to offend you!

The Pact - November 11, 2025, 3:06 am

(Nov 10, 2025 10:26 PM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) even I never had sex with my wife with her sleeping and she fights because of that but she doesn't understand my mentality so I excuse her and always say I am a straight forward person, if you want something, you need to tell me, not round and merry go round things up.

No offense but I don't understand what this means at all.

(Nov 10, 2025 10:26 PM)Replace Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) and was not getting what he needed from the woman or had other kinks, really even as for me, I have a lot of other real work to do then watch p.

He was living a very wealthy and privileged life on his doctor wife's income, and all she asked him to do is be a stay at home father to the kids, but he just liked torturing them.

So he had time because he didn't have a job and left the kids imprisoned in the car and garage while she was at work. He's a very terrible man.

Err0rX - November 11, 2025, 4:39 am

(Nov 7, 2025 08:16 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Christopher Scholtes left his 2-year-old daughter in a hot car in Arizona— where the temperature reached 109 degrees — while he searching for porn inside his home.

When you look into this story the dude was just a straight up psychopath. And you can see it on the video too. He lovebombed some rich doctor to let him be a stay at home dad, but never actually took after the little girls who he left in the car at least 50 times before the youngest died.

But the body cam is interesting to watch because you can see how much he doesn't give a fuck about anything but being charged.

EWU Bodycam is the best one to view on this but they won't let me share. I'll try to find another one.

Ok the one I wanted to share that I couldn't is much better EWU Bodycam. The judge even was going to not let the jury hear he was watching porn. He was also playing play station during the over three hours she was in there.

Feels like his rich wife bought people off so much for him. The funny thing is he didn't realise he could have tried flying to a non extradition country instead of killing himself on the day he was supposed to be sentenced- since the judge let that couple do whatever they wanted and even go on a holiday to Hawaii before sentencing.

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=oSBRvcaZuiE>]

Honestly, he was addicted on a pretty high level, but if he had gotten treatment, it wouldn't have elevated to this level. But is there any law that permits removal of a person who is demonstrably addicted to (porn)?

The Pact - November 12, 2025, 4:12 am

(Nov 11, 2025 05:39 AM)Err0rX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, he was addicted on a pretty high level, but if he had gotten treatment, it wouldn't have elevated to this level. But is there any law that permits removal of a person who is demonstrably addicted to (porn)?

(Nov 11, 2025 05:39 AM)Err0rX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Honestly, he was addicted on a pretty high level, but if he had gotten treatment, it wouldn't have elevated to this level. But is there any law that permits removal of a person who is demonstrably addicted to (porn)?

The ten year old said that he'd left her and her sisters in the car 59 times previously in the Arizona heat. The only reason none of them died before is that the air-conditioning turns off every 20 minutes but the oldest child always knew how to restart it as they stayed in there with their for hours with the garage locked.

His oldest daughter is 17 and started the process of suing them BEFORE the two year old died. She claims he first left her for hours in the car when she was 7 after he won custody of her off her birth mom. The 17 year old said he left her for hours in the car many, many times and she's diabetic and she had no water. She says he would restrict her food which was extra bad because she's diabetic. She alleges he drugged and raped, broke her arm. Repeatedly told her she was a mistake.

She accused her father Scholtes and her stepmother Erika of "emotional distress, assault, battery and fraud" in a lawsuit filed before the death of her half sister.

"He was physically abusive multiple times, constantly called her a mistake and piece of sh*t, would limit her food, which was dangerous because of her childhood diabetes, and had her locked in her room most of the time. She has made allegations that Chris drugged her so he could sexually assault her"

So, I don't know if porn is the main problem here.

Err0rX - November 12, 2025, 3:23 pm

(Nov 12, 2025 05:12 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The ten year old said that he'd left her and her sisters in the car 59 times previously in the Arizona heat. The only reason none of them died before is that the air-conditioning turns off every 20 minutes but the oldest child always knew how to restart it as they stayed in there with their for hours with the garage locked.

His oldest daughter is 17 and started the process of suing them BEFORE the two year old died. She claims he first left her for hours in the car when she was 7 after he won custody of her off her birth mom. The 17 year old said he left her for hours in the car many, many times and she's diabetic and she had no water. She says he would restrict her food which was extra bad because she's diabetic. She alleges he drugged and raped, broke her arm. Repeatedly told her she was a mistake.

She accused her father Scholtes and her stepmother Erika of "emotional distress, assault, battery and fraud" in a lawsuit filed before the death of her half sister.

"He was physically abusive multiple times, constantly called her a mistake and piece of sh*t, would limit her food, which was dangerous because of her childhood diabetes, and had her locked in her room most of the time. She has made allegations that Chris drugged her so he could sexually assault her"

So, I don't know if porn is the main problem here.

Listen, some people addicted to porn end up doing stuff like that, 'cause porn's like any other addiction.

Is she a student or one of them?

The Pact - November 12, 2025, 5:26 pm

She was 16 when she opened the law suit before her half sister died. Now she's 17 and apparently has a 2 year old daughter and I guess she's on her own, she managed to get out his care by trying to kill herself and then into his mother's care but her bio mom died and now her dad has killed himself, but she is still suing the step mother for being an abuser.

But her father was locking her in the car and leaving her there for hours 10 years ago so I don't think it's about porn addiction. I think he's a sadist. He wasn't watching porn for over three hours while his two year old was in the car. Police looking at his devices found he watched porn on while the two year old was sweltering and dying in the Arizona heat. Then they found he played Play Station and then they found he searched for designer men's clothes.

Replace - November 12, 2025, 6:34 pm

(Nov 11, 2025 04:06 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) No offense but I don't understand what this means at all.

I mean I respect women and don't endorse rape, or anything which can code into the same terms - silently.

(Nov 11, 2025 04:06 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He was living a very wealthy and privileged life on his doctor wife's income, and all she asked him to do is be a stay at home father to the kids, but he just liked torturing them.

So he had time because he didn't have a job and left the kids imprisoned in the car and garage while she was at work. He's a very terrible man.

Yea, I noticed he was way off his head because of the wealth he had off his wife! And when you have nothing to do evil grins inside you, and as always been said, an empty mind is a devil's workshop, therefore even he was a father of 3, he tend to watch porn rather then cartoon with his kids, whereas I tend to watch cartoon with the kindergarten kids whenever I get the chance to give free-service to the nearby orphanage, well watching Looney toons makes my day and also makes me remember by days when I was a kid and feels so great! Agreed on your point 100%.

WHITEHAT - November 12, 2025, 9:11 pm

Crazy story. I just can't believe he had the audacity to try and turn his suicide into some sort of statement by attempting to go out the way his daughter went out. First of all, she suffered a painful death where her brain literally cooked itself inside of her skull. He peacefully went to sleep from carbon monoxide poisoning. His attempt to garner sympathy with his choice of suicide, continues to show just how selfish this guy really was. Instead of doing his time and being there, emotionally, for his family, he chose to hurt even more people and abandon his 3 remaining daughters.

When you look at the wife, it makes you think a lot about why she stayed with him in the first place. I'm sorry but if I catch someone locking my kids in a car, I'm leaving, period. There's something wrong with her too. I don't think those kids are gonna be safe in her care because she'll let them around anyone, even men who neglect them and lock them in cars.

The Pact - November 13, 2025, 12:53 am

(Nov 12, 2025 04:23 PM)Err0rX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Listen, some people addicted to porn end up doing stuff like that, 'cause porn's like any other addiction.

Is she a student or one of them?

Well he's been leaving daughters for hours in the car since the 17 year old was 7 she said when she was 7 that was the first time he told her she had to stay inside the car then locked the garage up and went inside.

When she started the lawsuit she was 16 now she is 17 and she has a two year old daughter and wants to adopt the other two daughters when she turns 18 and she wants their mother to have them taken off her because she says the mother beat and verbally abused her too.

Err0rX - November 13, 2025, 2:26 pm

(Nov 13, 2025 01:53 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well he's been leaving daughters for hours in the car since the 17 year old was 7 she said when she was 7 that was the first time he told her she had to stay inside the car then locked the garage up and went inside.

When she started the lawsuit she was 16 now she is 17 and she has a two year old daughter and wants to adopt the other two daughters when she turns 18 and she wants their mother to have them taken off her because she says the mother beat and verbally abused her too.

She could've mentioned it to anyone, a friend, family, a neighbor, a teacher, even the police.

And what was he even getting out of it anyway?

Just trying not to get caught.

The Pact - November 13, 2025, 6:29 pm

(Nov 13, 2025 03:26 PM)Err0rX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) She could've mentioned it to anyone, a friend, family, a neighbor, a teacher, even the police.

And what was he even getting out of it anyway?

Just trying not to get caught.

She did mention it to people and Child Protective Services received nine reports about his abuse. But the step mother is very wealthy she's a doctor, an anesthesiologist.

Child Protective Services claimed they couldn't get enough solid proof so they were closing the cases every time.

I think after everything I've read or heard on YouTube on this case, he got two things out of it.

1. Sadism. Enjoying thinking about them suffering in the heat in the car, because he did a bunch of other sadistic things like break the older daughter's arm and call her a POS and a mistake every day.

2. He doesn't have to bother with any of their needs and can just freely watch porn, plays games and searches online for ways to spend his wife's money like buying designer clothes which another thing that he was doing while the two year old was dying. He bought a drum kit but he isn't in any band and he'd bought a new exercise machine that he'd put in the garage so that he left the baby in direct sun instead of at least having the shelter of the garage like they'd had every other time.

I think this guy has Antisocial Personality Disorder because for just one example, his wife is very wealthy but when the police were tracking down everything he'd been doing while the baby was left in the car, one thing he was caught on camera doing was he went to the gas station and shoplifted beer.

The older daughter lived with them from age 7 to 14 and then she tried to kill herself and told Child Protective Services that if they forced her to go back to live with them again instead of her bio mom she would keep attempting. They put her with her bio mom. But now her bio mom is dead.

Err0rX - November 14, 2025, 5:12 am

(Nov 13, 2025 07:29 PM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) She did mention it to people and Child Protective Services received nine reports about his abuse. But the step mother is very wealthy she's a doctor, an anesthesiologist.

Child Protective Services claimed they couldn't get enough solid proof so they were closing the cases every time.

I think after everything I've read or heard on YouTube on this case, he got two things out of it.

1. Sadism. Enjoying thinking about them suffering in the heat in the car, because he did a bunch of other sadistic things like break the older daughter's arm and call her a POS and a mistake every day.

2. He doesn't have to bother with any of their needs and can just freely watch porn, plays games and searches online for ways to spend his wife's money like buying designer clothes which another thing that he was doing while the two year old was dying. He bought a drum kit but he isn't in any band and he'd bought a new exercise machine that he'd put in the garage so that he left the baby in direct sun instead of at least having the shelter of the garage like they'd had every other time.

I think this guy has Antisocial Personality Disorder because for just one example, his wife is very wealthy but when the police were tracking down everything he'd been doing while the baby was left in the car, one thing he was caught on camera doing was he went to the gas station and shoplifted beer.

The older daughter lived with them from age 7 to 14 and then she tried to kill herself and told Child Protective Services that if they forced her to go back to live with them again instead of her bio mom she would keep attempting. They put her with her bio mom. But now her bio mom is dead.

That totally makes sense, a guy with money and power isn't afraid to do anything and since they're his family, he can get to them in every kind of way possible.

That's why he felt okay to go through with all of it. In the end, he got caught and got arrested. I feel he can get out of it somehow from his wife or in any case actually serves jail time.

The Pact - November 21, 2025, 6:46 am

(Nov 12, 2025 10:11 PM)WHITEHAT Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Crazy story. I just can't believe he had the audacity to try and turn his suicide into some sort of statement by attempting to go out the way his daughter went out. First of all, she suffered a painful death where her brain literally cooked itself inside of her skull. He peacefully went to sleep from carbon monoxide poisoning. His attempt to garner sympathy with his choice of suicide, continues to show just how selfish this guy really was. Instead of doing his time and being there, emotionally, for his family, he chose to hurt even more people and abandon his 3 remaining daughters.

When you look at the wife, it makes you think a lot about why she stayed with him in the first place. I'm sorry but if I catch someone locking my kids in a car, I'm leaving, period. There's something wrong with her too. I don't think those kids are gonna be safe in her care because she'll let them around anyone, even men who neglect them and lock them in cars.

I didn't even know that had leaked! The police were trying to keep that secret and I hadn't read how he did it anywhere until now. Scumbag to try and look like he cared and was a normal human being when he absolutely wasn't and didn't care. He would never even say any of his family's names. His wife was only babe and the baby he killed was baby. Not really important but it was just a bit weird how on every recording of him talking he never referred to any of his family with their names. "Babe oh no our family I killed our baby." what the fuck kind of text is that?

I normally don't like when people want to blame a woman for a man's crimes, but in this case her behaviour is SO weird and his oldest daughter is still suing her for child abuse and the oldest is 17 and she is that woman's step daughter but the man who killed his two year old's bio daughter and the oldest daughter said his wife sometimes helped him beat her.