Thread: Whats one browser extension you cant live without?

Artemisss - November 12, 2025, 9:26 pm

For me, uBlock Origin is non-negotiable. Once you use it, the internet without it feels broken.

What's your must-have extension or add-on?

xadamxk - November 12, 2025, 10:18 pm

Don't make me say it lol.

DarkReader is up there for me.

Deany - November 12, 2025, 10:50 pm

Agreed , need UBO to exist

NIB108 - November 12, 2025, 11:52 pm

LoL XDXD

DewGho - November 13, 2025, 12:13 am translator ?

RangoWorld - November 13, 2025, 1:51 am

Translator. I agree.

EliteCipher21 - November 13, 2025, 4:15 am

I enjoy ad and tracker blocking Ublock Origin.

Bastille - November 13, 2025, 4:32 am

I agree for uBlock origin, it would stress me out to browse without this extension

RITARI - November 13, 2025, 8:47 am

Password manager for sure

Really? Why use a password manager as an extension in your browser? Why not use KeePassXC instead?

Not an extension... but brave for watching YouTube without ads and a VPN that also blocks ads

I prefer having my passwords sync automatically across devices.

Totally respect your choice! Automatic sync is convenient. I personally stick with KeePassXC because it has built-in 2FA (TOTP) support for every account, so I can store my authentication codes right alongside my passwords. It also automatically clears copied passwords from the clipboard after 10 seconds.

Different workflows for different needs, both approaches are perfectly valid.

My choice is Bitwarden also because of its builtin TOTP support and password generator is super convenient.

The encryption is also strong and the code gets audited annually.

Bitwarden is honestly excellent for everyday personal use. The only little “catch” I personally keep in mind is that once you go Premium (to unlock TOTP), you’re paying with a credit card or PayPal, so the account is inevitably linked to your real name/email.

(Nice R6 Randomizer btw)

Good point! And thank you, I spent a lot of time on it. Would you mind giving it a star?

xadamxk - November 15, 2025, 10:12 am

Well HFX of course!

Of course! I can see the effort you put into this. Starred!

Ublock (it's better than adblock).

Perplexity's AI browser, Comet.

Gosh. Between them going offline 24/7 to their lazy team and even to the community full of imbreds on their official community IM server that seem to lack any common sense, let alone brain cells; it is the best agent I've used! Let's not forget about the fact that it has access to control each and every aspect of your data to propagate the LLM to properly function by calling on advanced callstacks that contain sensitive user information that can be used to gain access to saved passwords. My favorite part was watching the developers play it off like it never happened with their head up their asses while their secevp team allowed a severe CVE to remain persistent long enough to screw a lot of people over.

I understand how cool some of the automation is and know it will be successful in the future but we were not ready for an AI based web browser like this.

uBlock origin is essential.

I hate seeing pop-up ads everywhere.

fantomiuz - December 2, 2025, 1:29 am

It's not available to chrome. How can I get it ?

If I remember correctly google outlawed it because of Youtube. It's still available on Firefox and Opera.

You can still use it by loading an older Manifest V2 version, but Google breaks it again every couple of months with updates. People always find ways around it, but honestly it's not worth the hassle; just switch browsers.

However, Chrome still has a Lite version.

TemptedMethods - February 17, 2026, 1:58 pm

Ad blocker

Marketing Magician - February 17, 2026, 2:01 pm

It has to be grammarly for me

Saterax - February 17, 2026, 2:35 pm

A recent one I've been using and enjoy is Privacy Badger. Bare bones but gets rid of just about all the shit that sites force on you.

I'll have to go find it but I disabled it for now and don't remember at the top of my head, but honorable mention is the one that mass-clicks on ads and acts like you viewed it, solely for the purpose of wasting big company advertiser money and screwing their CPC numbers lol

I see people here mentioning password manager extensions. I have been thinking of one, but how in the world do you manage to log into places on other devices that may not have your extension as an option? Like I go to a hotel and want to login to Hulu and don't remember my 20 character password aha.
