Protect your sites...

I found this randomly while trying to find out what a specific image is. I noticed it in a system upgrade as being removed, and wanted to know if it was a default WordPress file or not

So I searched "about-header-freedoms.svg" and found a ton of older WP sites with exposed images/ directories.

I am posting this so people can protect their own WordPress sites from this new dork i just found.

The main thing is to be the first to work and close the vulnerability behind you, so that you are alone in the system.

Yeah, I've heard about this, seems like there are a lot of people fighting others for the same access.
