

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Good antidetect browser in 2025

Hazii - November 19, 2025, 9:22 am

Hello,

I know, about this topic, there is many-many information online, but I would like to hear more like personal experiences than paid reviews.

I have personally used Multilogin and Dolphin Anty, but it's always like after some time of using, the quality of browser detects, there starts to happen locks, bans on account(s) etc. What are your experiences? Maybe someone who knows more or technical side, can confirm, if it is possible, that somehow my real machine data leaks still somehow? I have felt they start to work better after format c or switching machine again. Pretty interesting and huge world to learn.

Binance - November 19, 2025, 9:43 am

<https://fv.pro>

Try incognition.

watch for webgl emulation, DNS records and printing.

Undead - November 20, 2025, 10:10 am

Have used both Multilogin and Dolphin Anty and didn't like them especially multilogin. I think AdsPower is better than both. You can create 2 profiles with the free plan and test it out.

hkub - November 20, 2025, 1:36 pm

Multilogin is a good choice in my humble opinion but I also believe Bitbrowser is good for anti detect browsing

FlashID - January 7, 2026, 2:09 am

(Nov 19, 2025 10:22 AM)Hazii Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hello,

I know, about this topic, there is many-many information online, but I would like to hear more like personal experiences than paid reviews.

I have personally used Multilogin and Dolphin Anty, but it's always like after some time of using, the quality of browser detects, there starts to happen locks, bans on account(s) etc. What are your experiences? Maybe someone who knows more or technical side, can confirm, if it is possible, that somehow my real machine data leaks still somehow? I have felt they start to work better after format c or switching machine again. Pretty interesting and huge world to learn.

I've noticed the same thing — even when using good browsers, accounts can still get flagged if something about the setup isn't consistent. When I started using FlashID, it really helped me because each account stayed in its own stable environment, and having the built-in proxy made switching locations way easier. I even tried the free plan at first to test things out, and it already made managing multiple accounts much smoother. Of course, how you use the accounts still matters, but these features made a noticeable difference for me.

Hazii - January 7, 2026, 2:15 am

(Jan 7, 2026 03:09 AM)FlashID Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I've noticed the same thing — even when using good browsers, accounts can still get flagged if something about the setup isn't consistent. When I started using FlashID, it really helped me because each account stayed in its own stable environment, and having the built-in proxy made switching locations way easier. I even tried the free plan at first to test things out, and it already made managing multiple accounts much smoother. Of course, how you use the accounts still matters, but these features made a noticeable difference for me.

You could try better, mr. FlashID affiliate/representer/creator.

7 - January 7, 2026, 4:53 am

(Nov 19, 2025 10:43 AM)Binance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) <https://fv.pro>

Try incognition.

watch for webgl emulation, DNS records and printing.

I havent tried this. I hate multilogin personally I use linkensphere and undetectable.io

Binance - January 7, 2026, 4:56 am

(Jan 7, 2026 05:53 AM)7 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I havent tried this. I hate multilogin personally I use linkensphere and undetectable.io

Surprised you can still get linkensphere to work for you after all this time. Tenebris doesn't update this at all.

Thanks for the undetectable link, many are using octobrowser and incognition

7 - January 7, 2026, 6:05 am

(Jan 7, 2026 05:56 AM)Binance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Surprised you can still get linkensphere to work for you after all this time. Tenebris doesn't update this at all.

Thanks for the undetectable link, many are using octobrowser and incognition

linkensphere is updated quite often

<https://ls.app/> weekly

btw hybrid mode works very good in linkensphere and probably one of the only ones that get 95-100% genuine browser scores

TheAutist - January 8, 2026, 3:45 am

Honestly I've only used Dolphin Anty extensively because the majority of Anti-Detect browsers I compared when looking for one were crazy expensive.

The 10 different profiles Dolphin Anty provides for free has been enough for me.

Cosa Nostra - January 25, 2026, 1:22 am

I would recommend "Undetectable.io" which is worth checking out. Lots of people report it stays cleaner longer than Multilogin/Dolphin for browser fingerprinting and profile isolation.

Hazii - January 25, 2026, 7:35 pm

(Jan 25, 2026 02:22 AM)Cosa Nostra Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would recommend "Undetectable.io" which is worth checking out. Lots of people report it stays cleaner longer than Multilogin/Dolphin for browser fingerprinting and profile isolation.

Nice, will try this.

DeepMask - April 22, 2026, 8:18 am

If you don't want to overpay for anti-detect browser, I recommend checking it out.

We offer anti-detection, it passes Pixelscan and Fake Vision tests, and there are free profiles for testing. A $10 lifetime license is available, along with an unlimited number of profiles. It's the best solution. We've never seen prices like these before. Search for "deepmaskapp" in the Telegram search.