It will depend on your country really. I personally don't know any crypto buying sites with gift cards or mobile credit cards (Apple pay?).

Not too sure about this, but maybe there are platforms that will take certain GCs. Definitely depends on the vendor & your country & the site... Maybe an official visa or mc gift card could work on some, but not sure

You might be better off selling your gift cards, assuming you already have some

Crypto.com says you can buy with Apple Pay:

Check out HF marketplace too!

Dundle offers giftcards payable with mobile billing, though it may vary per country. You can sell these giftcards for crypto P2P, using HF, Reddit or Noones for example. Limits can be on the lower side if I'm not mistaken.
