Thread: Who's DCA'ing BTC long term?

REZ4R - November 19, 2025, 3:21 pm

Got 25% of my portfolio in BTC, rest in ETFs. Anyone else just chillin' for the long game? Set & forget or you tweak along the way? Also.. what price do you think BTC will hit by 2050?

$250 worth every Monday (increased this a bit now that we're sub $100k again)

nice, I am kicking off a higher DCA as well

OP, it's better to DCA long-term than to lump sum in and hope for instant profit, statistically
I predict a drop of another 20-30K from here, but I can't time market so I must DCA now out of principle for this entire 60-90K area

Very similar to mine, I prefer mesilly but anyway at the end of it all I also think that the long term on BTC is the best thing ever.

I just hold my cold storage. I have not added to it in years.

I keep adding because I came in "quite late". If I had accumulated a lot 12 years ago at least, I really think I would do the same thing.
