Thread: Happy Thanksgiving HF Fam God Bless & Stay Safe

Slumerican ? - November 27, 2025, 2:47 am

Yo what's good HackForums,

Just dropping in real quick to wish every single one of you a very Happy Thanksgiving (whether you celebrate it or not). Much love to the whole community, the old heads, the new blood, the lurkers, the legends... all of y'all. May your plates be stacked, your WiFi strong, and your VPNs unbreakable ?

God bless you and your families, stay safe out there, and take care of each other.

Real talk though sometimes our minds race 100kmh into the future... next hustle, next day, next big move, next level in life. That grind mindset got us here, but days like this remind me to hit pause.

This year hit different for me. Instead of being glued to the screen scheming the next play, I actually put everything down and just soaked in the moment with the fam. Laughed way too loud at dumb jokes, ate way too much, argued about football, the whole thing. Felt good to just... be present and actually feel grateful for what's already in front of me instead of chasing what's next.

So yeah, quick reminder (mostly to myself lol) enjoy today, value the people around you, and be thankful for what you got right now. Tomorrow's grind will still be there, trust.

Have an amazing day, fam.

God bless, stay dangerous (in a good way), and much love ? VIBRATE HIGHER

To everyone reading or replying to this thread. I would also like to say.

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and stay safe.

Hell yes. Food, football, and Fireball mixed in egg nog to kick off the Christmas holiday.

Happy Thanksgiving to those who celebrate it.

Happy Thanksgiving everyone

I liked your part about being more present, I'm really focusing on that this year. Not just today but in general
