Thread: Making Money with Software Knowledge \(FREE Method\)

SkilledMaster - December 4, 2025, 11:58 am

If you're someone who knows how to program but can't make money, don't worry; I've found the perfect method for you.

Required items:

Calling and speaking

Knowing web programming languages (If you don't know much about this field, please let me know when sending a PM, and I can provide you with the help for that if necessary.)

If you can do these, send me a PM and I'll share the method with you for free.

Monthly income from this method:

If you did this for four hours every day, you could earn $4,000 or more per month. There are already people doing this, so why can't you? Send me a PM and get started.

Friends, thank you all for your answers. Please write down the programming languages you know. I don't know if we can create this project, but as a division of labor, we will assign those who are good at software development to the software development area, and those with less software knowledge to the marketing area. This way, everyone will have a job they can do. Marketing will be done directly through social platforms like Facebook or LinkedIn; I can explain how it works, but the people in the marketing area need to be able to actually bring in customers. If you believe in yourselves and can really do it, after the marketing area is established, this team, formed with the software experts, can grow rapidly like a software company. If the people in the marketing area want, we can also do social media marketing on other social media platforms like Instagram, Tiktok, and Youtube. This will brand the team and provide much higher-paying clients. Those who want to participate, please reply to this answer and answer the questions here. Thank you everyone.
