I think even at a low scale it's pretty decent. Let me show you what it could be if done right.

Key Insights

- ? Each active referral earns you $0.16/day in passive income
- ? Assumes all referrals claim 4 times daily (every 6 hours)

That's interesting! Things really start to scale once you get 1,000 referrals!

Honestly could probably be automated to;

- Create emails.
- Create accounts.
- Loop through all accounts to claim.

The only "issue" is do they allow claims from the same IP, then you'd have to figure out a way around that (Proxies or VPN).

P.S. I think it's worth noting that all withdrawals could be put towards some sort of compounding interest account on a crypto exchange.

That would boost things a bit more.

What if the person has a dynamic IP and they can just unplug their modem, wait 5 mins and get a new IP?

As long as it's not the same IP, that should work.

It looks like a hype project that won't last long.
