Thread: "Passive" income, how do you make money online?

Hi! im 22 years old and I have a good job, but I am at the top and I have no way to promote or raise my salary.

I can't start a business IRL, since I don't have time and in my country starting a business involves 200% more risks than in other places, plus I really like my job.

Is there a way to get a good passive income with any method here? Obviously I can put in effort and perseverance, plus weekly investment, I don't care if it's whitehat, blackhat or grayhat. I don't like the world of traditional investments

Consider learning about e-commerce and dropshipping name branded items.

I used to think about making money untill i got this tip from a friend before finding new ways in making money it is very crucial to identify what is available. He explained to me identifying what u have no matter how small. Then he told me to write down stuff like skills, space, shit lying around in your house, subscriptions to services. He told then told me know what u have and documenting it is a art itself.

Try this if you have spare time. Made about 350$+ so far just by downloading apps before heading to bed ??

Hello, are you interested in talking to me, being said I am your age and I am pretty much in a similar situation, with the same goal? Something might occur out of that relation.
