Thread: How does it feel have a healthy body without pain?

Melalisaragon - December 19, 2025, 4:05 pm

I got a problem with my body..

I won't go into too much detail...

but for two years now I've had serious bladder problems. Every hour I have to wake up and go to the bathroom.

I can't fully empty my bladder, or finish quickly, and I constantly feel like I need to urinate.

It's the worst kind of hell you can imagine.

I can't even imagine my life before this problem anymore. It makes me wonder, honestly... what is life without pain actually like? Does anyone even remember? :D

When you're focused on a single problem, the other problems seem like they're a lot less worse - but pain is recurring as we will always find things that hurt us.

Nice sentences. Unfortunately the world is a pure pain.. i miss my life before this pains happened.. I just remember that i went to bed & then when i woke up i saw nothing was same as before..

After 2 years i promised my god (if he actually exists) that if i survived from this, I'll try my best to find cure for all sickness and body issues. I want to everyone have a chance.. for living.. for trying.. trying to achieve their goals without pain.. without sickness.. i want to give a new chance to every humankind :)

You need to buy Ural and drink it. It does help. You should also ask for this medicine Soldenican. You probably stopped going to your GP about it because you felt they'd never do anything but these are medicines you can get. Ural you can buy without a prescription.
