The blog I want to see is private, how would I be able to see it without auths?

look at the source code for the site, take note of plugins and versions. search for exploits i.e
"wordpress 6.9.2 CVE exploit"

go from there

So I managed to run dirsearchmaster and it found a lot of small files, but I could only download 6, most of them empty and robots.txt says a wordpress access denied type of error.

Maybe someone could help me out?

find the author of the website, research him and find a way to contact him then send him a message asking for access to the blog, maybe he will give it to you who knows.

The blog is only accessible via the admin or through a direct login link because its all locked down.

sher.butter.wordpress.com is the site.
