Ive recently (like a month and a few now) have had my phone reach its limit of passwords, My sister tried to open it and now After i updated it through itunes, shows a screen where i can only input my password. The thing is, I forgot my password and I have no clue what it is but to my knowledge this is the last shot i can get to access all my photos, I have nothing saved on the icloud so i cant access it through there and I asked the apple forums and their answers wasnt satisfactory so I came here as a last attempt to try to unlock it. Is there any way I can unlock the phone?

You can access iCloud and Find My, but the Apple password isn't the same as the phone?

No, i was able to put my other phone number to access the icloud account. But thats for the icloud account, I have no clue what the 8 digit passcode is.
