

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: most anticipated games 2026

wavyBaby - December 29, 2025, 9:12 pm

Hey, everyone, how're you all doing? So my question is anyone got any games they're excited for for 2026 because mine should have been gta6 but then again... I just hope I won't be disappointed when it does come out

Pop Shells - December 30, 2025, 3:27 pm

I have a feeling you're gonna get a lot of gta 6. I personally think they delayed it because everyone's too broke to afford a new console. Idk what makes them think next year will be any different

MoOne - January 21, 2026, 4:46 am

I would say gta 6 but I really don't see it coming out this year

JoseMar - January 22, 2026, 3:40 am

Yes, that's true. Everyone is waiting for GTA 6.

I didn't play GTA 5 that much, but I'm curious to see how it's going to be.?

DemonAsylum - January 30, 2026, 4:43 pm

Unfortunately I don't think there are too many games or which are currently confirmed for a 2026 release at least that I'm really excited about. It's definitely possible an exception to that occurs though such as a shadow drop for Fallout 3 Remastered or a game I'm interested in getting a 2026 release date announced at Summer Games Fest for instance.

As for those games that are currently confirmed for a 2026 release date and that I'm excited about:

Resident Evil Requiem (should be a classic great RE game)

Crimson Desert (maybe, just recently started looking into it and it seems promising)

Dynasty Warriors 3 Remastered (always loved the Dynasty Warriors games as a kid and never played 3)

007 First Light (still unsure about this one given that it's going to be quite different than the 007 games I used to love, but different doesn't mean bad. IO has had great success with Hitman as well so I'm staying cautiously optimistic)

Fable (up until the recent Xbox showcase I was pretty on the fence about this, but the big reveal they did finally letting us in on a fair amount about the game has me very much on board for this release)

GTA 6 and that speaks for itself. Though I won't be the slightest bit surprised if it gets delayed again. I'm actually kind of expecting it to.

I don't think I'm forgetting anything, but maybe there is another applicable game that just isn't coming to mind as I post this.