Thread: Whats Your Biggest Goal for 2026

R5N3T - January 1, 2026, 6:52 pm

Hi everyone!

With 2026 starting...

I'm curious, what's your biggest goal for this year? It could be anything from personal growth, learning something new, or even just making time for yourself. We all have different ideas of success, so I'd love to hear what you're aiming for in the coming months!

Share your goals and let's motivate each other to make this year our best yet!

My main goal for 2026 is to build more consistency in my daily routine and pick up a couple of new tech skills. I want this year to be more productive and more focused.

Curious to see what others here are aiming for!

I haven't created a New Years goal yet.

Suppose I just want to get more work done. Try to be more mentally stable. Get my golf game back. More gym time. The basics.

Hope you stay focused and consistent in working toward everything you want to achieve.

Does this mean you want to play more golf? Isn't the whole point in golf to play as little as possible?

Do more socially and outdoors, typically outdoors and branding cattle, riding dirt bikes and fishing/hunting but past year been having a "seasonal depresson" or some shit. Probably just gotta kick my own ass and light that flame but i guess now just waking up from it.. How bout you fella?
