Mine is kinda weird, but im gonna wear a different color tracksuit with matching kicks every day of the week, and see how long i'll keep up with it.

That's a fun and unique resolution! Good luck keeping it up.

In terms of career goals. It's the same as last year. Plus I've added working out.

To make lots of $ this year. Time to get locked in CutePenguin - January 3, 2026, 6:07 am

I really want to upgrade my wardrobe this year.

Sodan42 - January 3, 2026, 10:58 am

I have been tempted to try steroids for a long time, because lots of people in the gym are using it with good results. But, I instead made the decision to NOT take that path, after witnessing others ruin their health with it.

But I WILL train harder, eat better, and reach my bench press goal this year as a natty.

Don't we all want that :sob:

fdisk - January 4, 2026, 2:35 am lose weight and get fit!

highfent - January 4, 2026, 4:18 am

To be more social

Spore - January 4, 2026, 1:54 pm

Get healthier, get a bit more active. I hope to do more hiking this year.

I am going to seriously quit smoking cigs again this year and get into shape. I nvr really make a resolution and more of long term goals. One day at a time is my motto these days.
