

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Help finding payment processor

blazin6969 - January 10, 2026, 9:26 pm

I'm looking for a less restrictive payment processor for my website. Ideally, something that also supports converting deposits from cards payments to crypto. The site is offshore and bulletproof, and my goal is to not use US based ones.

Clue - January 11, 2026, 4:38 am

I use a company that take card payments and pay me in crypto - their fees are expensive but they do work. There's a lot out there blazin6969 - January 11, 2026, 4:42 am

(Jan 11, 2026 05:38 AM)Clue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I use a company that take card payments and pay me in crypto - their fees are expensive but they do work. There's a lot out there

Thanks ill shoot you a dm see who you go through. Ive seen 3 to 8 percent. Just wondering what everyone is using as stable company consensus - January 16, 2026, 11:23 am

Russian service "robokasa". They never asked me a single question. It is worth noting that they take about 20% on semi-legal topics. Life hack: you can always write that you have an IP television service without a license. And even if you run black topics, as long as no one complains, everything works fine. Withdrawal in USDT.

blazin6969 - January 17, 2026, 7:56 pm

(Jan 16, 2026 12:23 PM)consensus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Russian service "robokasa". They never asked me a single question. It is worth noting that they take about 20% on semi-legal topics. Life hack: you can always write that you have an IP television service without a license. And even if you run black topics, as long as no one complains, everything works fine. Withdrawal in USDT.

Thank you. I dabble it a white Grey area. So looking to be safe. Might even try to find a all in one spot. Server, payment processor ect. Im open to suggestions.

Marketing Magician - February 16, 2026, 6:41 pm

I'm also looking for a similar payment processors. Did you have any luck finding something?

blazin6969 - February 19, 2026, 4:55 pm

(Jan 17, 2026 08:56 PM)blazin6969 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thank you. I dabble it a white Grey area. So looking to be safe. Might even try to find a all in one spot. Server, payment processor ect. Im open to suggestions.

No I havent actually.

IRLCash - February 22, 2026, 9:55 am

(Jan 11, 2026 05:38 AM)Clue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I use a company that take card payments and pay me in crypto - their fees are expensive but they do work. There's a lot out there

Do you mind sharing the name of this company?

Gaca - February 22, 2026, 10:01 am

(Jan 11, 2026 05:38 AM)Clue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I use a company that take card payments and pay me in crypto - their fees are expensive but they do work. There's a lot out there

What company please?