Totally agree! At least it would be a quality post, unlike this one.

I'm new to this forum and still learning the standards here. I didn't realize it earlier, but I'll make sure to improve next time.

All good m8, I just wanted to point out that you havent posted a ressource, you just said you have something you want to give out, next time put either source in here if its free or use the "attach file" to let us pay some bytes for the source ^^

Yes, sure! Can you tell me more about Bytes—what is it, and can I earn money from it?

For sure, Bytes here are an award of some sort for your engagement in the community, you can use them to play games like BlackJack or Flip in convo chat, you can also boost your Threads and give members Quick Loves if you really like their post, but this is a feature for upgraded members. In general its useful for many things around the Forum which you will most likely discover on your path of engagement here!

You can earn them through either gambling, making threads or posts or Contests/Giveaways from members, but for most of these you must upgrade, if you have further questions about it please dont hesitate to reach out to me or other members here, the group "Academy" is dedicated to help new members :)

Below is a very good guide i recommend reading into ^^
