Discord Username Checker – Fast, Accurate & Proxy-Supported

Looking for a reliable way to check Discord username availability in bulk?

I'm selling my custom-built Discord Username Checker, developed in Python, designed for speed, accuracy, and large-scale checks.

? How It Works

You simply add all the usernames you want to check into usernames.txt

Run the script proxylooper_checker.py

The tool checks username availability in real-time

Available usernames are automatically saved to available.txt

Taken usernames are automatically saved to taken.txt

? Proxy Support (Very Important)

The checker requires rotating proxies

Proxies help avoid rate limits and temporary blocks

Without proxies, Discord will quickly limit requests

Works perfectly with rotating residential or datacenter proxies

? Key Features

? Bulk username checking

? Real-time results

? Clean & simple file-based output

? Proxy-supported for safe checking

? Lightweight & fast Python script

? Easy to use – no complex setup

? Who Is This Tool For?

Username hunters

Discord community builders

Brand name researchers

Developers & automation users

? Disclaimer

This tool is provided for educational and research purposes only.

I am not responsible for any misuse, violations of Discord's Terms of Service, or illegal activities performed using this tool. The buyer is fully responsible for how they use it.

? DM me for price, demo, or more details. Serious buyers only.

Hey! I saw your posts and they seemed very promising. Looks like I'm too new to the forum to DM you. I'm looking for a partner and I think we could make a good pair. I have various skills in networking, programming, servers/linux, etc. I think we could make some good bucks together. Let me know if you'd be interested in anything like this. I'm pretty chill and open to new opportunities.
