

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Looking for a Partner AI-Powered Affiliate SaaS Directory \(Autopilot Model\)

Austerity - January 17, 2026, 10:10 pm

Hi everyone,

I'm currently building an AI-driven affiliate SaaS directory focused on AI tools & software, and I'm looking for a hands-on partner to help manage and scale the project.

? About the project

This is not just a blog, it's designed as an automated, high-intent affiliate SaaS directory that:

Captures search traffic for AI tools

Uses AI-powered content generation & rewriting

Monetises via affiliate programs

Is built to run largely on autopilot once scaled

The full business plan, monetisation model, and automation workflows are already completed.

? Current status

? Full business plan & monetisation strategy ready

? AI tools selected and integrated into the workflow

? Affiliate structure planned

??? Web developers are currently building the platform

? My time is limited due to other projects — hence the need for a partner

? Who I'm looking for

I'm seeking a partner (not an employee) who can help with:

Driving traffic (SEO, guest posting, partnerships)

Managing affiliate relationships

Executing and scaling content using the AI tools

Helping move the platform toward a true autopilot SaaS-style affiliate model

You don't need to code — systems, tools, and infrastructure are already in place.

? The opportunity

Revenue share / partnership structure (open to discussion)

Long-term, scalable project

Ideal for someone experienced in SEO, affiliate marketing, SaaS directories, or content automation

? Next steps

If this sounds interesting:

Reply here or DM me

Happy to share the full business plan, tools, and roadmap with the right person

Open to hearing ideas, improvements, or alternative growth strategies as well

Looking forward to connecting with someone who wants to build, scale, and automate, not just observe.