Thread: Workers in Canada/US

i am - January 28, 2026, 12:27 am

Looking for workers in the Canada/US to work with. You'll need to accept packages to your address and do additional work.

The more addresses you have access to, the more money we can make, and the longer-term our partnership can be.

Send me a message if you're interested.

You have been scammed before without a contract.
and now you got scammed again, and also no contract ? ?

Sales trashing is against the rules. I've had extensive talks with staff and have proved I'm not a scammer, and they've seen all the screenshots, even in spite of you trying to delete messages. I have not deleted a message a single time.

Before anything else, let me make two things clear:

I am NOT asking for money from any workers. This is highly trust based precisely because any packages you receive from me I will be sending up front. All monetary risk is on me.

To any staff reading this: I have done everything I possibly can to avoid discussing disallowed BH activity on here. PM me if you want a PDF export of Banks' and my convo, anytime he brought up carding or anything else disallowed I ignored it. Unfortunately I'm being dragged into this.

I'm not trying to get banned discussing disallowed blackhat activity, but given people may be stupid enough to believe Banks, here is an explanation and screenshots to prove it.

Banks is an unstable retard with PTSD from his time in drug trafficking who has constant meltdowns. His coke abuse probably doesn't help either, lol. He was too stupid to understand that shipping something through the mail (which requires approval from an office) takes weeks and convinced himself I scammed him, because he was scammed by other people constantly. In the screenshots you'll see him change plans we agreed to, insult me, freak out, etc.

What finally tipped things over the edge between him and I is when he bought a phishing email panel for $400 (when he owed me $100... as you can see in the screenshots...), was too stupid to figure out how to get it working, asked me AFTER he bought it if he was scammed, I said probably not because he had access to the panel, then he convinced himself I was somehow in on scamming him. I offered to help him not get scammed next time and he had another meltdown.

He's mentally ill and delusional, and I'm not even trying to be insulting, it's just objectively true.

And just for the record, he was going to have me ship BH material straight to his grandparents' house, who are letting him stay there for free, by the way. He is an all around low life. I thought about uploading the screenshots of him bitching about living with them and how awful they are to him (while they let him live there free while he ships illegal items to their house...) but I do genuinely feel bad for Banks due to his mental health challenges. I also thought about uploading screenshots of him discussing his mental health history to prove I'm not just making it up, and if he keeps slandering me I will, but I'd rather not as it is personal and somewhat violating for me to upload.

And I don't even know how to delete Telegram messages lol, he wipes them constantly. I prefer Session because you can't delete messages, and that's what most of our messages are on.

The last time he deleted messages on TG it was because he admitted he owed me money (which I've never pursued because it has to do with BH activity), and said he wouldn't pay me. Clearly he thought he was fast enough for me not to have screenshotted it.

As far as money goes, I put hundreds of dollars through his GF's OnlyFans (which I received precisely $0 from lmao), sent him valuable Walmart accounts for free, and covered $400 out of $500 in something we agreed to go 50-50 on, hence him openly acknowledging he owes me money. How this guy managed to convince himself I scammed him is beyond me, but he is a nightmare to work with and I don't recommend it to anyone.

You'll notice Banks didn't provide any screenshots; that's for a reason. Here are screenshots to prove I'm correct. Grab some popcorn and enjoy. ?

Interesting keeping an eye to see how this turns out informalmarc - April 1, 2026, 11:50 am

Today is april 1 I have received a package but have not yet earned anything I have been in constant communication with "I am" this should pan out good.

mouadbcn - April 12, 2026, 12:42 am

What kind of packages?
